Seek park speedup; silt worries state

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
Horsehoe Lake is slowly filling with silt and preventive measures may have to be taken throughout the area in the next few years if the lake is to be preserved in the new state park, Illinois Department of Conservation officials told a gathering of local officials and businessmen during a day-long conference Monday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

David Gross, associate geologist with the Illinois State Geological Survey, warned that there already is about 15 feet of sediment in the lake and only about two to three feet of water in most places. He also noted a delta has formed at the south tip where the Cahokia Canal occasionally empties into the lake and the delta has grown since about 1835 to the point it now connects Walker's Island with the shoreline and is continuing to grow.

Gross estimated the delta now has more than 100 acres and is "just the tip of the iceberg," since most of the sediment is settling on the lake bottom. Studies are underway to determine the rate of sedimentation, but Gross said it is rapid and is "a terribly troublesome problem. The lake is filling with sediment at a very rapid rate."

Robert Thornberry, landscape architect with the Division of Planning and Design of the Illinois Department of Conservation, warned there are no easy answers to solving the sediment problem. He said the costs of dredging out the sediment have increased from 31-cents per cubic yard about 15 years ago to $5 per cubic yard today and he estimated 1.4 million cubic yards of sediment would have to be taken from the lake to remove polluted sediment and get down to the "chemically pure" sediment. It is estimated 75 percent of the lake should be dredged to a depth of eight feet.

"As you can see, dredging the lake would be a multi-million dollar project," Thornberry said, and he noted the Department of Conservation has been operating on $5 million to $7 million appropriations per year, while its budget used to be $35 million to $40 million. Thornberry said several things can be done to reduce the rate of sedimentation and suggested a first step should be the installation of a 600-acre sedimentation basin at the mouth of the channel from the Cahokia Canal into the lake. Other measures may be required to keep silt and sediment out of drainage ditches, such as better farming methods, municipal efforts to clean up runoff water, areas to catch silt in ditches before the water reaches the lake, and others, he added.

Yet, with optimism the lake will remain alive for many years, the Illinois Department of Conservation is continuing land acquisition and planning rate of sedimentation and suggested a first step should be the installation of a 600-acre sedimentation basin at the mouth of the channel from the Cahokia Canal into the lake. Other measures may be required to keep silt and sediment out of drainage ditches, such as better farming methods, municipal efforts to clean up runoff water, areas to catch silt in ditches before the water reaches the lake, and others, he added.

Store owner is beaten

Frank Cantion, 2039 Illinois Ave., heard the bell ring on the front door of his shop and walked from the rear room at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when, someone placed a pillowcase over his head, pulled him backwards and started striking him about the face and head.

While being assaulted, Cantion heard the door bell sound again and called for help, and the person beating him ran into the back room and through a rear door, he said. The shop owner pulled off the pillowcase and went outside the building, but failed to see anyone around.

A man standing in a nearby parking area told police he saw two men run from the store and along an alley in the 2000 block, between Illinois and Dewey avenues. The man chased the pair but was unable to catch them, he said. Cantion suffered disorientation, lost his glasses, abrasions to the chin and his dentures were knocked out.

Police learned both men were about 18 or 19 years old. One was five feet, eight inches to five feet, nine inches tall, weighed between 140 and 150 pounds, medium build, with dark shoulder length hair. He wore blue jeans, a light colored jacket and a blue stocking cap. The second man was described as five feet, 10 inches to six feet tall, weighed about 160 pounds and had dark shoulder length hair. He wore a blue or black jacket.

Ambulances okayed

Nameoki and Chouteau township officials in separate meetings Monday night decided to approve a contract with Granite City to provide ambulance service to those townships after Wednesday, March 15.

Both, however, expressed concern over ramifications of the contract, which will force the township to pay ambulance bills which the persons who needed the ambulances do not pay. Nameoki Township officials, after approving the contract on a 3 to 1 vote, then voted unanimously to file suit against the Madison County Board to force them to provide ambulance service to the township.

Under state law, each county is responsible for seeing that every resident of that county has ambulance service. Chouteau Township turned the document over to its attorney, Hagnauer stated.

Sewer bond bids sought unanimously

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
The Madison County Board on Wednesday unanimously agreed to seek bids for the sale of $5 million in general obligation bonds for construction of sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships. Construction is scheduled to begin May 1.

The board also agreed to open bids at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 20, in the county courthouse at Edwardsville, and to hold a special meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, March 21, to approve the lowest acceptable bid and sign a construction contract.

The agenda for the special meeting calls for adopting the bond ordinance, approving the lowest bidder for the bonds, passing the ordinance to levy taxes in the special service area to repay the bonds, authorizing the chairman to sign the construction contract, and transacting any other sewer business which may come before the board. A $12.6 million grant has been offered by the Environmental Protection Agency which will pay 75 percent of cost of most construction and design-related work.

The joint bidders, S. M. Wilson & Co. and G. H. Sternberg & Co., both of Granite City, have held to their bid price of $15,664,000 since Sept. 30, 1976, which was lauded by the board members at the meeting yesterday.

Board Member Walter "Dick" Sparks, chairman of the county's special sewer committee, told the board he feels the sewers are wanted by the majority of the persons in the area to be served, especially with recent flooding caused by rains and melted snow. "During the dry period, they were not too concerned, but now they are getting very concerned that they have to have sewers," Sparks contended.

Sparks also said the sewer committee attempted to sell revenue bonds, which would be repaid by user fees, for the local share of the construction cost, but found they could not be sold. "I am sure there is no other way we can provide sanitary sewers for these people," he said.

Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City called the project, "one of the most important things we can do for the entire county. Sewers will attract industry and help the county, particularly along the canal. "There seem to be more people in favor than objecting and I am glad the courts upheld us," Hagnauer stated.

Answering a question why revenue bonds could not be used, Assistant State's Attorney Don Smith replied, "Revenue bonds are just not marketable. They tried to go revenue bonds, but couldn't, so they went to general obligation."

Board Member Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township, a member of the sewer committee, noted the 1976 Illinois special service area legislation never had been tested in the courts, "so we tested it." He stated, "There is no provision in the special service area legislation for a

Screams from 16-year-old

A 16-year-old Granite City youth found near the flagpole on the Benton and 27th streets side of Wilson Park at 11 p.m. Tuesday, told police he was screaming because "as he walked the birds flew and he freaked out."

A report of screams coming from the park brought an officer to the scene, where he found the youth with a plastic bag in his hand, containing a yellow washcloth with a toxic substance soaked into the cloth. A spray can of enamel was under the youth's coat and some cigarette papers and a second washcloth were on his person. The youth was charged with unlawful use of an intoxicating compound and he was released to a relative on notice to appear.

Skelton, Glass in disagreement on investments

This year, contests for financial offices highlight the Republican primary at the state level.

For the GOP state treasurer nomination, James M. Skelton of Champaign, Champaign County treasurer, and Brad Glass of Northfield, a state senator, are candidates.

Most of the attention has focused on the comptroller's contest because of the harsh words used during the campaign.

The treasurer's race is more issue-oriented. Skelton, 38, opened his campaign by criticizing incumbent Don Smith's investment policy.

"The office of state treasurer should be that of the investment banker for state government," he said, "and the placement of funds should be on a strict bid basis."

"The current practice of placement of funds based upon a bank's record of community service should be abolished."

Glass, an attorney with banking experience, supports the current investment policy. "As state treasurer, I shall see that the state revenues are used to support the economy of the state and expand business and job opportunities to the greatest possible extent," he said.

"Specifically, I believe the tax revenues derived from all Illinois taxpayers must be geographically deposited on a fair basis throughout the state in banks and savings and loans willing to meet the minimum interest rate required by the treasurer's office."

"This will insure a maximum return on investment to Illinois taxpayers while also putting the available state deposits to work stimulating business and community service loans."

"I strongly subscribe to the multiplier effect of state deposits in banks which make a substantial number of loans to businesses in their communities."

Skelton is critical of Glass' position.

"Other candidates for the Republican nomination seem to be advocating that the treasurer's office use its investment power to force financial institutions into altering their lending policies."

"In carefully worded statements, they couch their intentions behind noble-sounding ideals, such as more jobs, better business opportunities and greater investment in Illinois' future."

"While these statements unquestionably contain clever political wordmanship, I strongly disagree with their premise.

"The office cannot and should not attempt by executive edict to legislate social programs. Our only responsibility is the prudent administration of Illinois' hard-earned tax dollars."

To many politicians, though, the race pits a Downstater against a Cook County candidate. Geography will undoubtedly be an important factor in the outcome.

Skelton, chairman of the Champaign County Republican Central Committee, has lined up most of the Downstate county chairmen for his campaign.

Glass, 46, has served as an assistant minority leader in the Illinois Senate and is a former bank officer. He is an attorney. A "fiscal conservative," he would be "a strong voice for a balanced budget."

He and his wife, Barbara, have three sons, Charles, 23, David, 21, and George, 16. He is a former all-American wrestler at Princeton University.

Skelton operated a family-owned pharmacy before being elected to county office in 1970. He and his wife, Kay, are the parents of Julia, 16, Joanne, 15, Susan, 13, and James Jr., 11.

A graduate of St. Bede Academy and Quincy College, he says the central Illinois area between Interstates 80 and 70 contributed over one-third of the 1976 Republican votes and should be directly represented in the November general election in order to have a balanced GOP ticket.

Arrest in rape case

Jerry L. McCabe, 24, of 3830 Central Lane, reported to Granite City police at 6 p.m. Wednesday and was charged with rape and aggravated battery in connection with the 7 p.m. Feb. 27 rape of a 20-year-old girl in the front parking area of Granite City High School South.

Informational documents have been obtained from Assistant Madison County State's Attorney Stephanie Robbins making the charges and setting bond at $100,000. "We couldn't have completed this case without the help of the Pontoon Beach Police Department, which apprehended the suspect in another case," a Granite City police spokesman commented. There has been an intensive investigation since the rape occurred. It is alleged the victim has identified McCabe in a lineup and has identified his voice. McCabe's auto is similar to one in which the rapist left the scene after the assault, it is alleged.

The victim was attending college credit evening classes at the high school. She was walking from the parking area in front of Memorial Gymnasium toward the school when a man struck her on the head with something, grabbed her by the throat and dragged her across the parking lot. She recalled the man saying, "Shut up. Come with me. Someone don't like you." She was dragged to a blue-green vehicle parked at the rear of the front parking lot and was pushed inside by the man, who held a steel bar in his hand. After the attack, the man handed the girl her clothing, ordered her out of the car and said, "Don't do anything stupid," she related. She ran toward the school and heard a car door close as she turned around, she saw a yellow car with two persons in it leave the lot. The passenger resembled her attacker, she said. Officers had few clues initially. McCabe was arrested March 9 in Pontoon Beach for allegedly approaching a woman with a tire iron in his hand in the 3800 block of Gaslight Walk. Answering a report of a woman screaming, Pontoon Beach officers passed a yellow car, leaving the area. They noted the license number and then continued to aid the Granite City Press-Record.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Document charges burglary

Bruce A. Plumley, 20, Lakeland, Fla., has been named in an informational document from the Madison County state's attorney's office alleging burglary.

Plumley is accused of breaking into the home of Helen Ford, 2206 Illinois Ave., Saturday, March 11, with a 15-year-old boy who may face juvenile court action.

Police were told there was a burglary in progress at the home and passed two men on 22nd Street and Missouri Avenue while officers were enroute to the scene. When told one matched the description of one Mrs. Ford saw enter the front door of her home, police searched for the two, finding them in the same area.

Mrs. Ford said she was awakened by banging at her front door and heard a loud crash. She alleged seeing a youth wearing a dark stocking cap reach through a broken window in the door, unlock the door and open it about six inches, she said.

When she saw Mrs. Ford, he said he had the wrong house and fled, officers were told.

Former Judith Chalfin killed

Mrs. Judith Chalfin Kivett, born in Granite City and a former resident of Venice, was killed in an auto accident Feb. 20 near Wellington, Kan., as she and her husband, Paul, were returning to their home in Overland Park, Kan.

At the time of the accident, her husband was driving their car onto the entrance of the Kansas Turnpike. The car skidded on ice, went out of control and crossed the median divider, the right rear of their vehicle colliding with a snowplow. The car was thrown 60 feet before coming to a stop.

She was taken by ambulance to a hospital in Wellington, where Mrs. Kivett was pronounced dead. When Mr. Kivett became conscious, he was informed of his wife's death. He sustained several fractured ribs and of observation, was released from the hospital.

Mrs. Kivett, at the time of her death, was a resident of Overland Park. She graduated as valedictorian of her class at Venice High School in 1957.

She studied voice at the St. Louis Institute of Music in Clayton under the late Ilona Kelmay Vaida and also attended the University of Missouri in Columbia.

She was owner of a large candle and variety shoppe in the Crown Center, Kansas City, known as The Candle Power and Light Co.

Pattern company sold to employee

Dale Arnette, 2561 Delmar Ave., has sold the Arnette Pattern Co., 1801 Cleveland Blvd., which he has operated for a number of years.

The wood and metal pattern firm has been acquired by Bill and Gary Zimmer, father and son, both of Granite City.

Bill Zimmer has worked at the pattern company for many years and his son also has worked there. Arnette remains associated with the business.

In addition to running her own business, she found time to perform on many occasions as vocal soloist in several temples, synagogues and churches, as well as at charitable organizations.

She was active in Hadassah, the Joan Davis Foundation and numerous other club and charitable organizations.

She was a member of the Congregation Temple B'nai Jehudah in Kansas City and was active in Temple Sisterhood functions.

She is survived by her husband, Paul S. Kivett, a daughter, Lisa Renee Kivett, and a son, Jeffrey Brian Kivett, all of Overland Park; and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Chalfin, sister, Mrs. Stanley (Barbara Chalfin) Sandler, and nephews, Michael and David Sandler, all of Phoenix, Ariz.

Exchange students at Rotary

Jackeline Leann Cooper, 17, a student at Granite City High School North, and Jorge Luis Cardoso, visiting here from South America, were special guests at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club, held in the YMCA.

The Rotary student foreign exchange program was discussed by Dr. Wolf H. Kivett, chairman of the foreign exchange program for Rotary District 646. He is an instructor in political science at MacMurray College, Jacksonville.

Miss Cooper, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper, of MacMurray College, is being exchanged to Germany this summer.

The Rotarians were reminded by President Donald Shaffner that the club will participate in a Maundy Thursday luncheon next week and will not hold the regular Tuesday meeting.

The club voted to send one North and one South high school student to a leadership program at Mommouth, Ill., and to send a student from each school to a speech communication workshop at Eastern Illinois University this summer.

The Rotarians will donate $100 along with other Rotary clubs in the district to create a Paul Harris fellowship.

Release 2 pending lab analysis

Granite City police have released two young men from custody pending the results of laboratory analysis of a substance found in their car Monday night which is believed to be marijuana.

The men, a 21-year-old city employee and an 18-year-old hospital employee, were seated in a parked car at Benton and Idaho streets at 10:45 p.m. Monday when an officer stopped to see if they needed help.

He alleged smelling a strong odor of burning marijuana and searched the auto, finding what he believes was a "partially-smoked marijuana cigarette in the ash tray and a tobacco pouch containing what appeared to be marijuana on the car's front seat.

News notes

Marion I. Harrison, promoted to Sparks service area manager by the Illinois Power Co., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan F. Harrison, 2552 Cleveland Blvd., Granite City.

An erroneous reference in a Kansas City newspaper article included a list of groups inaccurately said to be active in night-to-work law lobbying. There is no labor or United Way participation in the Missouri legislative drive referred to in the article.

Randall A. Ganz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ganz, 2019 Amos Ave., a civil engineering senior at the University of Missouri-Rolla, is a member of the 48-student St. Pat's Board sponsoring the 71st annual St. Patrick's celebration at the school and on Friday through Saturday. Events include a parade with floats, games and a coronation dance.

Joseph Ybarra, referred to in an article Monday, doesn't reside at the YMCA nor has he lived there, officials said today.

Area land surveyors will take part in a one-day Red Cross first-aid course at 8 a.m. Saturday at 115 St. Louis St., Edwardsville.

Seafolding Act allegations by Dan O'Neil are in error, State Senator Sam Vadalabene said this week. A proposed law was not introduced, as is being implied, but in 1975, and was tabled three years ago at the senator's request, he pointed out.

Operating hours for the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during spring break have been announced by John Oxford, assistant director of operations. The center will be open from 7:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. tomorrow. The building will be closed Saturday and Sunday, March 18 and 19.

Due to the warming temperatures it is expected that ice-passing operations will be required at St. Louis Engineer District dams within the next few days. "Please be alert to rapidly-changing river stages and the appearance of floating ice as a result of these operations downstream of Dam No. 28, Alton, Dam No. 25, Winfield, Mo., and Dam No. 24, Clarksville, Mo., during this period," James A. Peterson, chief, Operations Division, said this week.

A resolution authorizing the sale of $600,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants was adopted by the Metro-East Sanitary District board of trustees in a meeting in Granite City Tuesday afternoon.

Spring break

Belleville Area College students will be on spring break from Monday, March 20 through March 25. Offices on the main campus will be closed. Classes will resume on Monday, March 27.

All students, extension center and main campus, full and part time, will be on break with the exception of flight students, whose class time is determined by FAA regulations.

The Senior Nutrition Sites sponsored through the college will be closed only on Monday, March 27.

Warn against bogus calls

Granite City police are warning Quad-City area residents, particularly the elderly, that someone representing himself as a bank official and asking for money is a scam.

Police know of two calls made thus far in which the man said someone was stealing from banks and asked the would-be victim to withdraw money from accounts or valuables from safe deposit boxes which he then would pick up at their homes and would return to the banks.

He said their cooperation would aid the banks in catching whoever had been stealing from the banks or tampering with safe deposit boxes.

Police officials said no such calls have been made and urged persons to investigate such calls fully. Police urge anyone who receives a request to withdraw money or valuables from a bank to contact officers at 877-6111 immediately and not to comply with the instructions until police have investigated.

Call hearing

provide the board members with a final viewpoint before a decision is reached.

Assistant Supl. Frank Kraus served as chairman of a committee that included principals representing six schools in preparing a comprehensive report on the necessity of closing the school.

A loss of state aid because of declining enrollment and the fact the state has not been able to meet its obligations, resulting in a loss to the district of about $600,000 during the 1976-77 school year, were listed as financial reasons for the move to close the school.

Kraus in his report noted phasing out a school could save a quarter of a million dollars. Stallings School was selected at this time because it would not increase bus transportation costs.

At the end of the 1976-77 school year, the budget reflected a

BRIARHAVEN BURGLARY
Prescription pain pills, a 12-pack of beer, a wallet, driver's license and check cashing card, and a hand-strengthening device were stolen during a burglary at the home of Patricia Buttner, 59 Briarhaven Drive, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. Wednesday. A neighbor saw a young man about 3 p.m. Wednesday behind the house for about 15 minutes, and he left carrying something.

$1,223,917 deficit (accrual) and the projected deficit for the 1977-78 year is $1,589,917. A continued deficit may force programs being cut in the future, the board was advised. If enrollment continues to decline — there has been a loss of 2,500 students over the last five years — and deficit spending continues to grow, other facilities also will need to be consolidated, it was asserted.

Stallings teachers have been informed that they will be given consideration in transfers to available openings in the district if the school is closed.

Included in the report was financial data listing the cost of certificated staff at $145,000; non-certificated staff at $85,562, and physical operations at $25,158, for a total saving of $234,616 if the building is closed.

In discussing the need for custodial workers, Brown informed the board there is a list of prospective custodians but they are not always available for part time or substitute work. Applications will be accepted at the board office, 20th and Adams streets, beginning April 1 to April 15. New applicants will be required to take a custodial test at 7 p.m. on April 19 at the new cafeteria at South High School.

Custodians working as substitutes will possibly be offered full-time work, it was noted.

TWO ARE ARRESTED

Thomas C. Sloan, 23, of 2825 Denver St., and Jack L. Rippey, 25, of 3030 Circle Drive, were arrested at 9:55 p.m. Wednesday at Victor's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., and were charged with disorderly conduct. Four officers were sent to the tavern on a report of a disturbance and were told the main troublemaker had already left. Two men, however, refused orders to leave and were arrested.

torney and insurance carrier to study if the township will be liable for payment of any suits which may arise from the ambulances serving the town.

They approved the contract, but with the understanding that they could terminate it at any time on a 30-day notice. Chouteau Town Clerk Patricia Polley hand-delivered the signed agreement to Granite City Clerk Robert W. Stevens Tuesday morning, assuring the city ambulances would continue time on a 30-day notice.

The split vote in Nameoki Township came after lengthy discussion during which the former township supervisor, Louis Whitsell, said he feels the contract is illegal and the trustees could not agree to pay someone else's unpaid bills.

The trustees responded by accusing Whitsell, a member of the Madison County Board, of not attempting at the county level to aid the township with the ambulance crisis.

Voting in favor of the contract were Supervisor Harold Davis and trustees Andrew Bessner and Norman Hessler. Trustee Lee Adams cast the only negative vote.

Adams said he questioned the legality of the agreement and noted it covers only a part of the township, excluding State Park Place, Eagle Park Acres and other portions.

All agreed that the township will have to drop out of the program if the people abuse it by not paying their ambulance bills.

Davis said he feels federal revenue sharing funds can be used to pay the currently outstanding bills, but that source of funding will be limited for future service.

referendum or for the use of revenue bonds. The fiscal agents told us revenue bonds could not be used, so we followed the guidelines of the special service area legislation."

Whitsell noted construction is due to begin May 1, so the committee is working on a very short schedule and urged the board members to approve the call for bids on the bonds. Board Member Jim Greene of East Alton expressed concern if the homeowners in the area to be served forfeit on the bonds, and Smith noted the county can not be held liable, since only the property owners in the special service area are included in the contract.

Member Dan Partney of Granite City noted the contractors had held to their original bid prices about 18 months and congratulated them for not requiring new bidding and higher prices, which would likely have halted the project. "I think this is an indication how important these people feel the project is," Partney stated.

The board was unanimous in agreeing to advertise for the sale of the bonds and to establish the special meeting to award a contract.

The official notice of sale of the $5 million in bonds notes interest may not exceed eight percent per year and will be paid each June 1 and Dec. 1, beginning Dec. 1, 1979.

In 1981, bonds totaling $250,000 will mature and the amount increases by $25,000 per year to 1993, when the final $500,000 in bonds will mature. The responsible bidder offering the lowest interest rate is expected to be selected. Each bidder must submit a $100,000 certified check or bank cashier's check with the bid to assure they will be able to purchase the bonds when made available.

The law firm of Borge and Pitt, bond specialists, will be used to help form a recommendation on the bid and that recommendation will be considered by the county board at the special meeting.

Circuit Clerk

ballots are tabulated by a certified public accountant and results are released to the employees, who will probably receive them today. The Press-Record, however, was able to see a copy of the results yesterday at Edwardsville.

It was indicated 38 employees bailed out, voting their preferences for state and county Democratic primary candidates running in Tuesday's primary election.

In the five-way race for sheriff, the employees selected Toffani with 17 votes over the party-endorsed candidate, James Estes of Mitchell, who received nine votes. Ed Vonnard of Alton got five and Michael Vincent received two. Donald Vaughn did not receive any and five of those who voted indicated no preference.

For circuit judge to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of John Gitchoff, Johnson received 32 votes, compared to six for A. A. "Andy" Matlock.

In the county treasurer race, the employees preferred Henkhaus over Jim Augustine by a vote of 27 to 11. Augustine has the Democratic Central Committee's endorsement.

In the 56th Legislative District, incumbent State Sen. Sam Vadalabene received 29 votes to six for Dan O'Neill. Steve Maragides did not receive any.

In the four-way race for two Democratic state representative seats in that district, incumbent Joe Lucco was the top vote-getter with 51½ votes, challenger Sam Wolf of Granite City was second with 30½ votes and incumbent Jim McPike received 18½. Joe Greenman got one and one-half votes.

Briggs was overwhelmingly endorsed for county school superintendent with 36 votes and Vasil Eftimoff received two.

Michael Bakalis won by the same 36-2 margin over Dakin Williams of Collinsville for the governor nomination, and Richard N. Luft was unanimously endorsed 37-0 over Roland W. Burris for state comptroller.

Nina T. Shepherd was preferred 34-2 for state treasurer over Jerome A. Coe and there was a tie for U.S. senator between Alex Smith and Anthony Robert Martin-Trigona with 17 votes each.

Portell's only comment about the ballot results was on the U.S. senator nomination race where he prefers Smith.

"I think the employees have not done their homework in this race and I am very disappointed and disturbed. I think some of them were swayed by commercials," rather than records," the circuit clerk said.

Unopposed candidate results showed Evelyn Bowles with 37 votes for county clerk, Richard J. Durban with 35 votes for lieutenant governor, Richard J. Troy with 35 votes for attorney general, and Allan J. Dixon with 36 votes for secretary of state.

In a letter sent to the employees with the survey results, Portell said he did not concur with all of the recommendations, but would "bend a little just like I hope others will and go along with the majority vote."

He is urging employees to vote as a bloc for the candidates selected by the office vote. "We work together and try to do everything else together. I won't force anyone to vote in a certain way, but I hope we can also vote together," he stated.

"The reason I think my feelings should be swayed somewhat by my employees is that they are out in the field working with these people while I am here behind a desk."

"By sharing our individual knowledges in a poll such as this, we get an overall view, not just of courthouse employees, but of employees in every branch of the circuit clerk's office," he concluded.

Agents arrest five, seize drugs in area

Five persons were arrested and drugs and items believed valued at about $50,000 were seized as agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEGI) and police from three other Quad-City area departments searched homes in Pontoon Beach and Madison Tuesday afternoon.

Granite City, Madison and Pontoon Beach police aided the MEGI agents in the arrests, which culminated a two-week undercover operation in this area into drug traffic.

A search warrant was served at a mobile home at 4734 Lake Drive, Lot 12, Pontoon Beach, and a home at 1607 Fourth St., Madison, was searched, Richard Woods, MEGI director, related today.

Seized during the search operations were a large quantity of drugs, a printing press alleged to have been used to print illegal prescription blanks, a large number of prescription blanks and several weapons.

Drugs seized included marijuana, PCP (Angel Dust), LSD and other substances, Woods said. The street value was estimated at about $50,000, he added.

Only one of the suspects had been charged this morning, but MEGI agents were to meet today with an assistant Madison County state's attorney to seek charges on two other persons. A juvenile also was arrested in the investigation and has been released on a notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

Charged with unlawful delivery of a controlled substance to a MEGI agent is James Joseph Kenney, 20, of 2234 Grand Ave.

The fifth person arrested Tuesday was released without charges on authority of an assistant state's attorney pending further investigation.

Service clubs to join in Maundy Thursday services

The annual Maundy Thursday luncheon meeting of all area service clubs will be held at noon on Thursday, March 22, at the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue.

A 30-minute panel discussion, "Why I Am What I Am," will be held.

Members of the panel will include the Rev. William Chrysal of St. Peter's United Church of Christ, the Rev. William Mathews pastor of the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, and the Rev. Harold Garrett, pastor of the Suburban Baptist Church.

Representatives from all area service clubs have been invited and the presidents of the various clubs are to make their group reservations with the Rev. Dr. David Bruce Maxton, host pastor, by noon on Monday, March 20.

Following the panel discussion, the men will go to the fellowship hall of the church for lunch.

Julianne Podnar dies

Julianne Podnar, 12-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Eva) Podnar, 3270 Kilarney Drive, died at 9:32 p.m. Wednesday at Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis.

The infant was born at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was transferred to the St. Louis hospital.

Other survivors include one sister, Nicole Podnar; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Ann) Podnar, Baton Rouge, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Alma) Whit of Granite City; and great-grandmother, Mrs. Anna Podnar of Madison.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Probation only

Mrs. Sandra Walton, 23, Pontoon Beach, has received two years' probation on a charge of cannabis possession.

It was incorrectly said previously that there was an additional penalty. Court officials clarified the case this week.

Dr. Rosenthal mission speaker

Dr. George A. Rosenthal of Edgmont Bible Church will return Sunday evening as the speaker at the Gospel Mission, 2014 E. 20th St.

Dr. Rosenthal will speak at the 7 o'clock service. Church school classes will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday.

At 7 o'clock tonight, the Rev. Everett Hopkins of Maryville Baptist Church will be the guest minister.

The public is invited to attend all services at the mission, Mrs. Rosenthal J. Davis, superintendent, said.

A special Easter program is being arranged for Sunday, March 26, she announced.

John Rider, SIUE communications professor, whose talk stressed taking individual responsibility for one's life and use of time.

Describing the Earth as "a fine parcel of property" whose tenants sometimes are troublesome, Dr. Rider said people have within themselves the remedies for strife, pollution, starvation, disease and injustice that plague mankind as their world moves through space.

He recalled an astronaut crew's struggle with inadequate oxygen, power and water supplies as the trio tried to return to a home planet plagued with air, energy and water concerns.

Bonnie Goldenberg of Boutique II and Elaine Prince and Brenda Phillips, both of Granite City Realty, were inducted as BPW Club members in a ceremony conducted by Lois Weston and Annelien Smith.

President Lorene Sadrakula presided. The club collect by Mary Stewart was led by Chaplain Verna Lengyel, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Americanism Chairman Gertrude Ashford.

Public Relations Chairman Rosalie Stern presented awards for two from the Press-Record, Editor William F. Winter and Women's Editor Valerie Evenden, and to representatives of other metropolitan area news media.

The club annually salutes media personnel who aid in publicizing activities of the world's largest women's club, founded in 1910.

"Change, challenge and response" were outlined as examples of issues dealt with by the Business and Professional Women.

Charge armed violence in GC stabbing

Michael K. Kohuth, 19, of 2729 Saratoga Ave., has been charged with armed violence and aggravated battery in information documents issued by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

It is alleged Kohuth stabbed Charles E. Earls, 32, of 4536 Highway 162, early Sunday as Earls, his wife and two friends were getting into their auto at Niedringhaus Avenue and Chestnut Street.

Earls said a Chevrolet blocked his vehicle from leaving the curb and he asked the two men in the Chevrolet to move their vehicle. A passenger in the Chevrolet allegedly got out, displayed a knife and attacked Earls, cutting the left side of his forehead and face and his left lower abdomen.

Earls is recuperating from his wounds. Associate Judge Thomas Gibbons set Kohuth's bond Tuesday at $2,000 cash and he was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Rain delays 'Y' soccer

The YMCA soccer clinic which was to have been held tonight at St. Elizabeth's field in Granite City, has been postponed because of the poor conditions of the field.

The clinic, which will feature Y soccer coach Bob Guelker and members of his team as guest instructors, will be held Thursday, March 23 at 7 p.m. at St. Elizabeth's.

The YMCA Spring soccer season, which was originally to have opened last weekend, has been postponed again.

The Spring session will begin Saturday, April 1. The first two weeks of the schedule will be made up at the end of the Spring session. There will be no opening-day parade.

Nameoki Presbyterian St. John Lutheran

"Characters at Calvary" has been the Lenten theme for the Sunday morning messages in the Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, which will conclude on Palm Sunday, according to the pastor, the Rev. Don F. Pierson.

"Your Private Easter" will be the message in the community sunrise service taking place at 6:30 a.m. Easter Sunday. The men of the congregation will serve a fellowship breakfast at 7:45 a.m. and an Easter egg hunt for the children will commence at 9 a.m.

The wonders of our world and our faith will be depicted in a color film slated for the Easter morning Sunday school hour.

"Dust or Destiny" is a full-color motion picture produced by the Moody Institute of Science that depicts the mysteries of the human body and the uncanny instincts of migrating birds and other natural wonders designed by the Creator. It will be shown at 9:30 a.m., Rev. Pierson added.

The Easter Sunday service commencing at 10:45 a.m. will be marked by the public reception of new members.

A Mission Celebration will take place on Sunday, April 2nd, when the Rev. S. Robb McLaughlin will be the guest minister. The "Love Leaves" distributed to the church families will be returned that Sunday. This has been a highly successful approach to the hunger and disaster relief needs of the world. A celebration of the love lost program will be held Sunday, April 19th, Rev. Pierson said.

The congregation will gather for a Passover Communion Service on Maundy Thursday at 6:15 p.m. The traditional Seder Service symbols will be used and explained. Elements of the Seder service, which are annually observed as a remembrance of the Passover, will be shared with the congregation. This is the concluding service of Wednesday evening suppers that have given the congregation a look at the "roots" of their faith, the pastor announces.

The guest speaker has served several churches in the Southern Illinois area and is currently the District Superintendent of the Carbondale District of the United Methodist Church.

Dr. Wagner will also deliver the sermon on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday nights at the 7:30 p.m. services.

KABOK JOHN BELOBRAYDIC goes up for a shot Tuesday night in Carbondale's STU Arena while guarded by Olney's Jim Jenkins (41). Belobraydic scored 14 points for Collinsville and Jenkins nine for the Tigers as the Kaboks earned a trip to the elite eight in Champaign this weekend with a 79-58 Class AA Super Sectional win. THE game . . . for trip to 'Elite Eight'

Collinsville smacks Olney

By PETE HAYES

Press-Record Sports Editor CARBONDALE—When a guy's at home in bed all day nursing a sore throat, high fever and aches and pains, one wouldn't expect to see him that same night out playing basketball . . . would one?

Yup. That is, if it's Steve Ray of Collinsville and the game in question is a Class AA Super Sectional match up.

Ray, who had trouble with signs of the flu Tuesday, didn't show it at all Tuesday night as he hit 12 of 18 shots from the field, nine of 10 in the first half for 26 points, enroute to leading Collinsville to a 79-58 win over Olney and their second straight trip to the "Elite Eight" at the state finals in the Assembly Hall in Champaign.

THE KABOKS, behind three straight buckets by Ray at the game's outset, and a 20-footer by Kevin Stallings, grabbed an 11-0 lead before Olney's Tony Jennings scored the Tigers' first points of the night on a 20-footer of his own with 6:13 remaining in the period.

"Maybe we should keep Ray in bed Friday," said Kabok coach Vergil Fletcher, jokingly, "if he does this well after being sick in bed all day."

The Kaboks will play against New Trier West, the winner of the Evansston Super Sectional, at 12:15 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) at the Assembly Hall. Olney, which came into the game with a 21-6 record, played the Kaboks even in the second and third quarters and pulled to within 10 points twice (47-37 and 49-39) in the third quarter on the strength of two Tony Jennings outside bombs.

But Collinsville reeled off 10 of the next 12 points which were scored and grabbed a comfortable 58-39 lead with 3:11 remaining in the period.

"I DIDN'T THINK we played with too much enthusiasm," said Fletcher. "I don't know whether it was the fact that this was the first round of the tournament or what, but I didn't feel we were as aggressive as we should've been."

Besides Ray's superb outside shooting in the first half, the Kaboks were paced by Kevin Stallings' hot shooting from the perimeter. The 6-8 perimeter, to be exact. Stallings hit a 55-footer from the mid-court line as the buzzer sounded ending the first half and did it again from 40 feet at the end of the third period.

"We've been practicing on these plays all year in practice," said a grinning Fletcher.

Olney, trailing 61-45 going into the fourth quarter, managed to clinch within 12 points at 6:49 on two Jennings jumpers from outside at the 7:40 mark. That's when Fletcher put John Belobraydic and Ray back into the game after pulling them out earlier when the Kaboks had a larger lead.

"I've seen too many teams lose a game in the last five minutes after having big leads," said Fletcher. "That's why I got those two back into the game."

"Olney's got a good ball club, he added. "Since they're all going to be back next year (there isn't a senior on the entire squad), I think they're going to be an excellent team next season."

OLNEY COACH Ron Herrin wasn't the typical losing coach after the game. "Hey, it could've been total annihilation out there after that first quarter," he said. "We got off on the wrong foot, falling behind so early, but I was proud of the way the guys kept their composure and did let things get out of hand. I think the fact that we managed to get within 10 points in the second half proved that. There aren't very many teams that were able to even do that this year."

"Vergil's teams are always very well schooled," Herrin added. "This is such a talented group . . . they keep the pressure up all game long."

One player on the floor for the Tigers who at the outset of the game appeared to be outmanned just a bit was 5-8, 119-pound guard Gary Bussard. The frail appearance of the tiny Olney was deceiving, however. He went up against Collinsville's Kevin Stallings like a wire-haired Terrier against a German Shepherd.

HE WAS outscored by Stallings 24-8, but Herrin and, perhaps, praise for Bussard. "We've got to have him in there as a play-maker," he said.

"He's not out there to score. I know it looked like a big mismatch, but I thought Gary handled himself real well for his size."

Olney's Darnell Jones, a hot-shot 6-5 junior center, had been averaging 25.5 points per game, but was held to 18 points and had several shots blocked by Collinsville's Belobraydic and Ray.

"Darnell got a real education out there tonight," said Herrin.

"I think that nothing but good is going to come out of this game for us as far as next season is concerned. For a bunch of seniors who weren't even expected to challenge for our conference title (North Egypt Conference) this year, getting into the "Sweet Sixteen" isn't too bad."

Olney, which plays the state title of ball-park defense, and the Kaboks have made famous, tried to keep Collinsville center Belobraydic from getting the ball inside. It worked to some extent, but he still scored 14 points. "We felt we had to keep them from getting the ball inside to him," said Herrin. "We did, but they just murdered us from outside."

The Kaboks defeat New Trier West tomorrow afternoon, they'll face the winner of the Lockport-Ottawa game in the semifinals Saturday afternoon at 12:15.

Maybe the whole team will try staying home sick.

By DAVE CAUSEY

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville tennis squad suffered its first loss of the season Saturday as the Cougars dropped a 5-4 cliffhanger match to Memphis State. The Cougars bounced back to win their tenth of the year by defeating Murray State in Kentucky, 9-0.

The loss probably will not affect the Cougars' national position at the top of the NCAA Division II rankings, inasmuch as Memphis State is one of the top-ranked Division I teams. Last year, the Cougars split matches with Memphis State. Mel Purcell of Memphis State came from behind to defeat the Cougars' number one singles player, Juan Farrow, 6-7, 6-3, 7-5. Arjan Fernandez, Cougar All-American, beat Chip Hooper 7-6, 6-2.

Memphis' third singles player, Roger Well, put away Brian Miller, 6-2, 6-3. The Cougars then took the next two singles matches as Kent Smith beat Pete Simpson five and four, and Granite Cityan Bill Rusick defeated Jim Ladyman, 6-2, 7-5. Steve Mansour of Memphis beat the Cougars' Al Miller 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, to tie the match at three-all after the singles play.

Memphis then captured two of the three doubles matches to take the contest.

Against Murray State, the overall team balance of the Cougars quickly became apparent as every SIUE singles player won his match decisively. The Cougars also won every doubles match to sweep the meet.

The Cougars open their dual meet home season Saturday, March 18, as they host the Lady Panthers basketball team in a second place finish in the Illinois State Small College Tournament.

The Lady Panthers defeated Rockford College 61-45, then beat host Illinois Benedictine 65-44, before downing second seeded Millikin University 61-54. Millikin has a 12-2 record and a 78 point per game scoring average coming into the tournament. Kathy was outstanding on defense helping her teammates force Millikin into 29 turnovers in that crucial game.

In the championship game, the Lady Panthers clearly dominated and looked as if they were to become the State champs but two costly turnovers with 50 seconds left spelled a 54-52 defeat to number one seeded George Williams College.

Greenwell finished their season with a 14-7 record and the State Runner-Up Title. Only two of their season's losses were to small college competition. Kathy was a mainstay both offensively and defensively this season for the Lady Panthers and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shemwell of 2500 Angela Drive in Granite City.

GRANITE CITY — Granite City South, due to an inexperienced young ball club and a tiring game Tuesday night, lost out in the second round of the IHSA girls' basketball regionals to East St. Louis Senior High last night at Memorial gym.

The Flyers decisively controlled the entire game as the final score was 57-25. "A young team is right. We only had two seniors in the year's lineup," commented South's coach, Pat Yates. "But we'll be strong the next two years."

Leanna Peoples of East St. Louis led the way with 23 total points. Peoples is just a sophomore and will be returning for the Flyers.

Chris Boyd, the "super-freshman" of the South five tallied high score for the Warriorettes with seven points. "Chris played real well for us this year," complimented Coach Yates. "She'll be with us three more years."

One minute and 31 seconds into the game, South found themselves trailing 5-0. Susan Bell drove up the middle for South's first tallies. East St. Louis returned with a two foot hopper by Peoples.

It took four and one half minutes to score the net bucket. It was done by Carla Knezevich at 0:07 for Granite. The Warriorettes were down by five at the end of one, 9-4.

The Flyers flew the coup in the second quarter scoring 20 points to South's five. Three of those points were courtesy of Boyd and the hands of senior Mary Livingston were behind the other two.

South let the gap widen to 20 points at halftime, 29-9. "We (South) were a little tired coming into the game, needless to say how we feel now," said Coach Yates.

Granite played for ten points in the third quarter with Boyd getting four of them. They were on five and ten foot jumpers.

East St. Louis kept their stride to score 16 points in this quarter. They realized that if they won they would play East St. Louis Lincoln for the regional title tonight in the South gym.

Fourth quarter action. Knezevich took the opening tip.

On Sunday, March 19, there will be a clinic for softball and baseball managers at the Granite City High School Memorial Gymnasium. The clinic will be conducted by four local baseball coaches, Greg Patton, sophomore baseball coach at South, will work with outfielders. John Modica, assistant varsity baseball coach at South, will teach the pitching portion of the program.

Bob Stegemeier, varsity baseball coach at North, will demonstrate infielding techniques and Babe Champion, varsity baseball coach at South, will concentrate on catching.

The doors will open at 12:30 p.m. with the program beginning at 1 p.m. A question and answer session will be held to help solve problems of individual managers and coaches. The clinic will be held free of charge and is open to all baseball and softball managers, as well as players who wish to improve on their pitching and fielding techniques.

The Division One nationals are scheduled at the University of Maryland in College Park, Md., today, Friday and Saturday.

Meshes suffered a knee injury in his final match at the Division Two nationals, and it is not known if he will be fully recovered in time for the Division One competition.

Nita Graham, daughter of the Madison boys basketball coach, Larry Graham, scored her two points worth for South midway through the last stanza. Graham hit on a 15-foot jumper. With 2:11 to play, Coach Yates subbed in her JV squad to finish the game. Fifty seconds later, Susan Jeffries, a freshman, scored South's last points.

Four points later the game was over. The door to sectionals and state was slammed in the Warriorettes' faces with a 57-25 final score.

"Chris (Boyd) played super tonight as did all the girls. Katie (Knezevich) did a great job on defensive rebounds," complimented Coach Yates.

"We'll be back next year. You can count on that," concluded the coach.

SOUTH 46, ASSUMPTION 44. Nita Graham's last-second 12-foot jump shot was the difference Monday night as South's Warriorettes won their first round game over East St. Louis Assumption, 46-44. They were the only points she scored all night.

"I wouldn't have rather seen anyone else but her take that shot," said South coach Pat Yates. (Continued on Page 24)

Medic! . . . keeps the Cougars going with tape

By AL BARNES

Michael Stephen Lebane, known as Mike to members of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer and basketball varieties this past season, is a man who wants to serve his fellow man, preferably in athletic competition.

As an athletic trainer, that is, Lebane, 25, entered college rather late. In fact, it was after a stint in the U.S. Marine Corps and one and one-half years as an ambulance driver in St. Louis that he decided to follow his sister, Linda Lillis, in enrolling at SIUE. And, in the same field, nursing.

While in the Marines, he worked as a Navy Corpsman (Emergency Medical Technician) in two naval hospitals. After that, he went through the Corps' 12-week medical training course. Then he was assigned to the Third Marine Division stationed at Okinawa. He was discharged in late 1974.

Lebane's journey to SIUE started in Southeast Missouri where he was born in Perryville. At age four, the family moved to Granite City. Before his senior year, the family moved again and he finished high school at St. Louis' Roosevelt High.

His introduction to soccer was rather dramatic. He bought a ticket to see the famous Pele, a member of the New York Cosmos, play the St. Louis Stars at Francis Field in 1975. While standing on the field alongside the stands watching Pele put on a demonstration of his kicking skills, a fan fell off his perch and crashed into Lebane breaking his (Lebane's) leg.

His sister, Linda, urged him to sign up for a nursing course at SIUE. Lebane did, but after a year and a half, he changed his mind and decided to become an athletic trainer. Rick Everage, then a student trainer for the Cougars, encouraged him to talk with Bud Buddell, SIUE's professional trainer.

After talking to Buddell, Lebane changed his major to health education. "I hope to graduate in June of 1979," he says.

Buddell assigned Lebane to work with the 1977 SIUE soccer team and he traveled with the Cougars to a third-place finish in the NCAA national championship tournament at Berkeley, Calif. before the first half ended to reduce Brown's lead to 2-1.

With that goal, the Cougars revived and went on to win it. The Cougars' basketball 11-14 season might have been worse if Mike's work on Bonnie Lewis' ankle hadn't been so good. He kept Lewis in the SIUE cage lineup, no doubt of it.

Lebane says his two biggest thrills as a trainer outside of the trip to California were the team's winning the Governor's Cup at Eastern Illinois and the basketball team's game at Illinois State. That game at Illinois State was something, wasn't it? The crowd, the noise, and the two teams' skills—they were just great, that's all," he said.

Lebane has proven himself a

It's a toughie . . . faces its hardest schedule ever

The 1978 Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville women's tennis squad faces its toughest schedule in the sport's short, two-year history at the school, but Coach Bob Gambie is very enthusiastic about his charges' chances for a winning campaign.

And, for two very good reasons: his acquisition of two top-ranked St. Louis metropolitan area players, Sue Crador and Ruth Szymanski, both veterans of the game.

Discussing the upcoming season, Gambie predicted, "Crador, who is ranked in the St. Louis District Association's doubles, figures to challenge our returning top player, Pat Ziegenfuss, for the squad's No. 1 singles spot. Szymanski will play either the third or fourth singles slot."

Pausing, and frowning slightly at his putting himself out on a limb, Gambie added, "I feel that this type of player competition for spots on the team is very good for the squad. Everyone now will have to work a little harder to win the spot on the squad she feels she deserves."

Returning from last fall's campaign, when the Cougars finished fifth in the Illinois Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament, is Ziegenfuss, now the school's No. 1 singles player. She is currently ranked second in doubles and third in mixed doubles in the metro St. Louis area.

Gambie added: "Ziegenfuss is not only a class player, she is also an excellent teacher as well. She helps the other women out as much as possible with their games. She's very unselfish on the court and devotes a great amount of her energy helping the less experienced players."

Gambie predicted: "Jeanne Depper of Belleville, our No. 2 player last fall, will probably feel the greatest pressure from Sue Crador and Ruth Szymanski, but Jeanne looks on her situation enthusiastically."

Depper commented, "Sue and Ruth being on the squad will force me into becoming more aggressive in my game. If I sit back, they'll beat me. I want and I want that No. 2 berth back."

The team's captain, Joy Pierson of Granite City, has greatly improved her game during the current indoor season, and Gambie predicts she will post a winning season this year at either the No. 4 or 5 singles berth.

Here's what Pierson says about it: "I have been working on my net game quite a bit. This is because I feel that I can't afford to sit back anymore—I've got to force my opponents into making more errors if I'm to win my share of matches."

Rounding out the list of starters will be Debbie Patertine, Mascoutah; a sophomore, who played fourth singles for SIUE last fall. "Debbie's never-give-up attitude is her strongest point," Gambie said.

Fighting for starting berths, too, will be freshman Colleen (Coco) Hudlin of Edwardsville; Sue Hommert, a freshman from Granite City; Debby Wild, a senior from Edwardsville; and Cindy Leavers, a junior from Trenton, N. J. who also played on the SIUE women's field tennis team last fall as a halfback.

Wednesday, March 29—University of Missouri, St. Louis, at SIUE, 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 4—Southeast Missouri State U., at SIUE, 3 p.m. Thursday, April 6—Parks College at SIUE, 3 p.m. Saturday, April 8—SIUE at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana, teams to be announced, 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 11—Maryville College at SIUE, 3 p.m. Thursday, April 13—SIUE at St. Louis University, 3 p.m. Friday, April 14—SIUE at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., TBA. Sparks, Miles contenders for County Board

WALTER SPARKS

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks is running for re-election March 21 to the Madison County Board.

He relates that "I live at 613 English Place, Mitchell. I was born at Poag, and attended the Poag School and Edwardsville High School."

"I have lived at my present address since 1947 and am the owner of D & J Mobil Service in Granite City. From with I am semi-retired to allow me to have the much-needed time to care for the duties of being supervisor of Chouteau Township and member of the Madison County Board from District 16."

"I am a member of Teamsters Local Union 971. I was formerly a journeyman pipefitter-welder and journeyman sheetmetal worker. I have in good-standing with drawal cards from both organizations."

"A member of the Mitchell Presbyterian Church, I served as building chairman when the present church was built. I am a member of Edwardsville Masonic Lodge #95, the Mississippi Valley Consistory, White Shrine of Jerusalem 78, U.S. Civil Defense Council and the Township and County Officials of Illinois."

"My wife, Laverne, and I have two children, Katherine and James, and ten grandchildren. We have been married 45 years."

"I have been a member of the Chouteau Town Board for 20 years, including serving as town clerk and supervisor."

"I believe this past experience and my record of honest and integrity as a county and township official qualify me to ask for the support and vote of the citizens to help finish the large projects we have started for the benefit of the people."

Sparks, 66, initially was appointed as supervisor in 1967, and was elected to four-year terms in 1969, 1973 and 1977.

He served on the former County Board of Supervisors three years and has been on the Madison County Board since it was created in 1972, being elected that year and in 1974.

A former member of the Mitchell and Poag grade school boards, Sparks notes that "I have been a member of organized labor all my working life."

He cites his long governmental experience — supervisor 11 years after being town clerk nine years, plus serving on the County Board for nine years — as helping to qualify him for continued effective public service.

"I believe it is important that we elect people we feel will be sincere and open in all governmental business."

"My record shows I have always worked for the best interest of the people, whether it hurt me politically with some, or not."

"I will always do my best. I will listen to everyone's questions and answer them to the best of my knowledge."

MORRIS MILES

Morris W. Miles is opposing County Board District 16 Member Walter Sparks in the Democratic primary March 21.

Miles is 43 and resides at 118 Kinder Lane, Mitchell, with his wife, Joann. Their children are Jennifer Ann, 18, and Morris Wayne Jr., 16.

He has been a resident of the local area for over 20 years and has resided in Mitchell for 14 years.

A 1953 graduate of Stewart County High School in Tennessee, Miles graduated from the SUE industrial management program in June 1965 and has a bachelor degree in marketing.

He is employed as marketing manager for the Pepsi-Cola Alton Bottling Co. Inc., Alton. Miles is Democratic committee member in Chouteau Precinct Five and chairman of Chouteau Township precinct committee.

A member of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce and St. Louis Association of Manufacturers Representatives, he is a U.S. Army veteran.

"Chouteau Township has shown a pronounced lack of dynamic leadership over the last several months," Miles believes. He ran in 1977 against Chouteau Supervisor Walter Sparks, who has been critical of the Special Sewer Committee, which has planned sanitary sewers and expects installation work to begin in May.

"Another important issue of interest to Chouteau Township is the result of the state statute passed in 1975. It is unlawful for Mr. Sparks to hold the position of township supervisor and the position of County Board member simultaneously after December 1978," Miles says.

"Mr. Sparks has not publicly stated what his choice would be in this instance."

"This creates the possibility that a township supervisor would be appointed by the Town Board and the citizens would be deprived of the right to select a township supervisor for a full term. This is an elected office and I believe it should remain as such."

"If I am elected, I can serve without conflict or question for the next four years."

Miles has run previously for the school board, for township tax collector for township auditor.

He is a member of a group that for a long period has been on the opposite side of issues dealt with by the Sparks administration.

He attributes part of Supervisor Sparks' success to ballots cast in the northern portion of Chouteau Township. The northern area is not a part of next Tuesday's District 16 voting, and Miles hopes to achieve a victory. Some voters who fought sewers are speaking negatively about Sparks.

Miles has not taken a direct stance on sewers but has indicated he opposed them under the present arrangement of Madison County Board sponsorship.

He adds, "The issue should have been taken to the people, and they should have been given a chance to vote directly on the spending of their tax dollars."

When a fellow needs a friend —he finds a town full of them

Earl "Fuzzy" Jarrett, owner of Vamp Beauty Supply in Granite City, discovered this week he had many friends.

"This is super," he said, "that the hairdressers I've known have gotten together to do all this in such a short time. The people have responded fantastically. I have a town full of friends."

collected during the day will go to Jarrett. All supplies and time had been donated; there were no expenses to be paid.

She said the response was good. "There were about 25 people waiting outside the door when we opened at 9 o'clock, and we had appointments booked all day, as well as walk-ins."

The small, crowded shop resembled an assembly line as volunteers shampooed, cut and style-dried hair of customers of all ages and both sexes. Kitchen and folding chairs were pressed into service and operators brought their own equipment to supplement that of the shop.

"We didn't expect so many people," said Helen Robbins, who was operating a blow dryer. "Usually I would be spending my Sunday at home with my kids."

Lee Rollins said he would be "sleeping and reading the paper." Rollins, a friend of the association, is retired and volunteered to shampoo for the benefit. He has been helping his daughter, Dana Moore, do shampooing for about six weeks.

Broshaw said the Elite Hairdressers is a non-profit organization whose members do varied charitable work throughout the year. This was a special effort to help a fellow member and resident.

The organization also was conducting a bake sale, with items donated by members of the affiliate and friends.

"Many people are giving donations even if they don't want us to do their hair," said Bonnie Campbell, cutting hair from a folding chair. "People really are nice and want to help."

The group also presented Jarrett with a small plaque engraved, "To honor persons who have made it possible for others to achieve."

"This is great," said Jarrett. "The people in this town are great. I wouldn't live anywhere else."

The style-thon was supposed to close at 6 p.m., but was still going strong at 7. "We'll keep on until we finish," said Mrs. Broshaw.

Coal supply for homes depleted, dealers say

By MICK STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

"The warm weather will be here before the coal is," Elmer Smith, owner of Butch's Coal and Metal Co., 1331 Iowa St., Madison, said Wednesday.

In commenting on the coal situation, Smith said: "I haven't had a coal delivery since before Dec. 5. We have had some offers of scrap screening. That's a cheap coal which mills and blast furnaces can use, but in a home unit it does not work. I figure I am out of the coal business for the year," Smith said.

Mrs. Thomas Layloff Sr., who with her late husband operated Union Coal and Feed in Madison for 50 years, said, "Coal really ceased to be a major part of our business about 10 years ago. As the old coal furnace equipment broke down the people would get gas permits and install new gas equipment."

"I am very concerned, however, over my coal customers and really have tried to find coal for them, but without much success. I did send several over to Collinsville Ice and Coal which has a large supply, but I doubt if they have much left."

"I ordered quite a bit of coal before the strike, but it never was delivered."

"The coal miners and companies can't seem to get together and you read so many different accounts in the newspapers I don't know who to believe," Mrs. Layloff said.

William O'Dell, operator of Tri-City Coal and Ice Co., 100 State St., Madison, commented, "I have enough coal for the schools which I have to keep for them under our contract, but for householders who use coal, it is a tough situation."

"We've received some industrial coal and tried mixing this to spread our small supply and help as many local customers as we can, but this is now gone."

"I have some friends and relatives from Kentucky who are coal miners and I believe they are going to stay on strike until the miners get what they want," O'Dell said.

Seith would guard jobs for state residents

At the top of the Democratic primary ticket, Alex Seith is opposed for the U.S. Senate nomination by Anthony Robert Martin-Trigona. The winner is certain to face incumbent Charles Percy, a Republican, in the general election.

Seith, 44, of Hinsdale, has been campaigning for the office since last summer.

Both he and William Singer, a former Chicago alderman, sought the endorsement of the Democratic State Central Committee, and the committee unanimously endorsed Seith for next Tuesday's primary.

He is considered a foreign affairs expert.

A past president of the Chicago Council on Foreign Affairs, he has traveled extensively and speaks several languages.

For this campaign, his first, Seith is traveling door-to-door in hopes of rousing Democratic voters.

He has been active in party affairs both at the national level, concerning delegate selection rules for the national convention, and at the local level as chairman of the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals.

During his long campaign, Seith has emphasized a plan he calls "revenue-keeping," which is designed to give Illinois a greater share of federal dollars.

He has spoken against trade regulations which favor foreign competition over Illinois employees.

With amendments, he favors ratification of the Panama Canal treaty.

Seith's strategy has been to ignore his opponent, when asked about Martin-Trigona, Seith says Martin-Trigona passed the bar examination but that the Illinois Supreme Court refused to permit him to practice law for moral reasons.

Martin-Trigona, 32, is a self-styled consumer advocate.

He is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars, primarily in radio advertising, as he seeks the nomination.

Many persons have the mistaken impression Martin-Trigona is endorsed by the regular Democratic organization because his advertisements are paid by a so-called Illinois Democratic Committee. But it is Seith who has the party backing.

ALEX SEITH

Martin-Trigona has campaigned for public office, without success, since 1966, when he ran for local office in Chicago.

Martin-Trigona says he became a consumer advocate and public interest lawyer because of inspiration from the late U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas, for whom he worked at one time.

He claims to have won numerous lawsuits on behalf of consumers and taxpayers.

The cases he cites include: sex discrimination cases in the broadcast industry; excess legal fees paid by the state to private attorneys; and environmental cases concerning shipment of radioactive materials.

The reasons given by the Illinois Supreme Court for rejecting Martin-Trigona's application to become an attorney were lack of the necessary responsibility, fairness, objectivity, candor, self-restraint and respect for the judicial system.

Henkhaus and Augustine attitudes differ on a 'lug'

Not only the strength of the entrenched Madison County political organization—but also the public popularity of "lug" campaign contributions from county employees—will be tested by next Tuesday's Madison County treasurer competition.

The Democratic primary election pits together the organization-endorsed H. "Jim" Augustine of Livingston and the independently-inclined Michael S. "Mike" Henkhaus of Bethalto. Henkhaus is 36 years old and Augustine is 35.

Henkhaus took a strong stand during the weekend against what he describes as an assessment of 1 1/2 percent of gross pay of some public employees.

County Treasurer George Musso is retiring from office this year and backs Augustine as his successor.

Augustine, who regards his nomination as necessary in order for the November ticket to have geographic balance, said he will wait until he assumes office before deciding whether a political bug system should be avoided.

"I'm not aware of the system. I'll have to wait until I get in to study it first," he said during the weekend.

Henkhaus is court administrator of the Third Judicial Circuit. Augustine during the campaign is on leave of absence as a Livingston High School teacher and coach.

"I know as an administrator," Henkhaus says, "that just thinking about doing a good job won't work. It takes ability and action. I can assure the voters that my candidacy will offer them that ability and action."

"Because I ran four years ago without the endorsement of the Madison County Central Committee, the foundation of my campaign came from the volunteer efforts of my family and friends. Together, we took my candidacy to the people."

"I am following this same formula again. There are 260,000 people in Madison County and I want to meet with and talk to as many of them as time allows."

"There are 222 Democratic precinct committeemen and I plan to meet with these elected party representatives on an individual basis."

"I have demonstrated that I can establish a broad base of support with the voters. When I ran last time, I received 48 percent of the vote and carried all but eight townships in Madison County."

"Campaigning with the limited time and funds that I had, I think this goes to prove the effectiveness of a people-to-people campaign."

"My candidacy offers the people a solid background as a proven administrator. I have devoted 14 years to public service."

"Prior to assuming the position of court administrator in 1975, I served for 12 years as a deputy circuit clerk. If I am elected as treasurer, I feel that I will be able to use my background to run the treasurer's office efficiently and openly."

"I will use this training to bring ability and accountability to the people as treasurer of Madison County."

Henkhaus was born in Alton. He was educated in parochial schools and graduated from Olive Memorial High School in Bethalto. He attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at night and served six years in the U.S. Army Reserve.

Henkhaus is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the National Association of Trial Court Administrators, and an associate member of the Madison County Police Association. He attends Our Lady Queen of Peace parish in Bethalto.

The candidate has held membership in the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, United Steelworkers, International Union of Operating Engineers and American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

He resides in Bethalto with his two sons, Mike, age nine, and Matt, seven.

Augustine, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Augustine, was educated at Livingston public schools and is an SIU at Edwardsville graduate.

He is an SIU Alumni Association lifetime member. A Democratic precinct committeeman, he serves on the Madison County Democratic Executive Committee and is chairman of the party's Northeast District townships.

JULIANNE JASUDOWICZ, 7, first place winner in modeling in a baton twirling contest held at Pattonville Senior High School, Creve Coeur, Mo., during the weekend. She is a third grade pupil at Johnson School.

Girl, 7, wins modeling event

Julianne Jasudowicz, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jasudowicz, Rural Route Two, Box 1032, Sunny Dell Acres, won a first place trophy in modeling during the weekend.

The youngster competed in a baton twirling and modeling contest at Pattonville Senior High School in Creve Coeur, Mo. She is a pupil at Sharold Yount School of Baton, 4921 Morrison Road, where she has been taking lessons for the past three years.

Julianne is a third grade student at Russell D. Johnson Grade School.

Cheryl Barton heads Nu Zeta

Officers who will serve for the forthcoming year were elected by members of Nu Zeta Chapter, of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Tuesday night at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Amy Brasfield, 2824 Dogwood Drive.

Mrs. Cheryl Barton was elected president; Mrs. Leona Macke, vice-president; Mrs. Betty Thomas, secretary and Mrs. Marcie Johnson, treasurer.

The current president, Mrs. Carol Moerlen announced a $25 donation will be sent to Earl Jarrett Fund. A contribution will also be given to the Easter Seals Fund in lieu of the annual Easter egg hunt, sponsored by the chapter, because of the inclement weather, Mrs. Moerlen said.

Members elected a "girl of the year" at the meeting and the honoree will be named at the Founders Day observance planned for April 30, it was noted.

Plans were finalized for a social outing on April 9 with a trip to the ice capades in St. Louis.

Others present were Judy Haven, Margie Williams, Rhonda Dooley and Debbie Brown.

Shower honors engaged couple

Miss Susan Howard and her fiancé, David Zimmer, were honored at a pre-wedding kitchen shower given at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville.

Tables were arranged in a U-shape with the gift table in the center. Tiny baskets of mints, made by the groom's sister Mrs. June Tharp, were used as favors.

Hors d'oeuvres, punch, coffee and cake were served during the affair.

Games were directed by the hostess and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mary Lee Lorton, Miss Rhonda Tharp and Miss Cindy Hoelter.

Other guests attending included Mrs. Ann Howard and Mrs. Bob Zimmer, mothers of the engaged couple and Alexis Tharp, Mary Beth Cooper, Lorri Crockett, Carla Harper, Toni Harper, Effie Davis, Maxine Hoelter, Pearl Tharp, Winnie Sheppard, Marie Stieb, Helen Davis, Connie Zimmer, Shirley Crockett, Karen Cooper, Hazel Lambert, Mabel Flucher and Bill Kovach.

FONDUE FUN

Tired of working in the kitchen? Then bring fondue to the table. You needn't wait for a party, or for family guests to arrive. Any time is the right time to cook at the table with fondue.

Fondue gives menus seemingly new and exciting twists, yet the idea originated long ago. Out of a fervent desire to utilize hardened cheese and bread, the Swiss concocted a mouth-watering cheese and wine mixture. The cheese was melted in wine and the bread cubes were then dunked in the mixture. The name fondue came from the French word fondre which means "to melt."

Free ice show Monday at GC rink

Free tickets are available at Wilson Park ice rink for the annual "Competition and exhibition ice show" to be sponsored by the Granite City Park District at 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 20.

Mrs. Pam Siefert, professional skater at the Granite City rink who will direct the show, said the public is invited to attend.

Admission is free and the tickets may be obtained without charge during public skating sessions at the rink, she advised.

Further information may be obtained by calling the rink, at 877-5549, or the Wilson Park office, at 877-3059.

Skaters competing in the seven events are students in the park district's beginner, intermediate and advanced skating instruction program.

While the scores are being tallied at the conclusion of the contests, skating guards employed at the rink will provide entertainment for the audience, Mrs. Siefert said.

Skaters entered in the different levels of competition and their event, include:

Freestyle I — Lori Mills, Jenny Whitliffe, Kim Spitz, Miller, Christine Doniff, Danny McCormick and Donald Fisher.

Freestyle II — Marsha Fisher, Beth Bodman, Cindy Grimes and Chris Loyet.

Freestyle III — Janet McKenna, Christine Byer, Rita Harrell, Dawn Muskin and Sheila Whit.

Intermediate Freestyle — Beverly Alarcon, Dana Jones, Alicia Null, Pam Mitchell and Leslie Roberts.

Low Test Freestyle (interpretive skating) — Lori Mills, Cindy Grimes, Chris Loyet, Janet McKenna, Dawn Muskin and Sheila Whit.

High Test Freestyle (interpretive skating) — Beverly Alarcon, Dana Jones, Alicia Null, Pam Mitchell, Leslie Roberts, Cindy McKenna, Beth Hodge and Debbie Bigham.

Mrs. Siefert explained the Freestyle I level is compulsory and includes waltz jump, two foot spin, forward spiral, bunny hop and one-half flip jump.

Freestyle II, also compulsory, requires a one foot spin, one-half Lutz jump, waltz jump, forward spirals done on edges and toe walley jump. Neither event requires a precise program.

In the Freestyle III event, a program with a 1½ minute time limit, requires such moves as slachow jump, change foot spin, back spiral, toe loop jump and a one revolution jump of the skater's choice. Other elements which are added will increase the score in accordance with the difficulty of the moves attempted and properly executed, Mrs. Siefert said.

The score also is adjusted for different well executed moves in the Intermediate Freestyle, which consists of a flip and loop jumps, camel spin, sit spin and a jump combination during a 1½ minute program.

Only those skaters who have passed Freestyle Test VI or VII (ISIA) may complete in the Novice Freestyle event, which consists of a 1½ to 2 minute program, involving axel, Lutz and split jumps, a flying camel spin and a combination spin using two changes of body position. Other elements will increase the score according to the difficulty of the moves and their execution, Mrs. Siefert said.

The interpretive events are open to all skaters regardless of test level passed, the skating instructor explained.

Mrs. Siefert said the creativeness of the competitor is judged on his or her ability to move to music and express the mood of the music being played.

The good faith check of the bidder whose proposal is accepted will be held uncashed until delivery of the bonds or forfeiture of the bonds and the good faith checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon determination of the successful bid. In the event of the failure of the County to deliver said bonds in Chicago, Illinois, or St. Louis, Missouri, to the purchaser in accordance with the terms of this notice within 45 days after the date of the sale, said good faith check will, at the option of the purchaser, be promptly returned to the purchaser.
The County reserves the right to reject any or all bids and waive technicalities. While not required for bidding the County requests that each bidder supply the net interest cost and average interest rate with the bid presented.

If requested in his bid, CUSIP numbers will be applied for and printed on the bonds at the purchaser's expense. However, the County assumes no responsibility therefore, and absence of or incorrect CUSIP numbering shall not be grounds for the purchaser to refuse or delay prompt acceptance of the bonds when tendered for delivery.

Tip leads police to theft loot

A service station operator received an anonymous phone call at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, advising him a tool box and tools stolen from the station could be found at a residence on Circle Drive.

Five tires taken from the station also could be located on a vehicle in the driveway there, the caller said.

Leonard White, 2200 Pontoon Road, went with an officer to the address given by the caller, following precise directions.

A man at the house said the officer and White could look around, but then asked if the policeman had a search warrant. Told none had been obtained, the resident said to go ahead and look in the garage.

Allegedly found inside the garage was a grey and red tool box which White identified. The man at the address said he had bought the box at a pawn shop on Collinsville Road, near the Fairmount race track, where it had been since Jan. 14.

Another officer was called to the scene while White wrote down the serial numbers of tires on a car in the driveway to check against records at the station. He is to report the findings to detectives.

The occupant of the premises was advised to keep the tool box and tires pending further investigation.

Costas, Lucco to speak at lighting fund dinner

The speakers for the Granite City South Bathers' Club lighting fund drive kickoff dinner, held at the club last night, were Joe Lucco, Democratic state representative from Edwardsville and former Edwardsville High School basketball coach, and Bob Costas, a sports announcer for KMOX Radio in St. Louis.

The dinner, for which there are still plenty of tickets remaining, will be held Thursday, March 30, at 6 p.m. in the new Township Building in Granite City. The dinner is being held to unveil the plans for the new lighting projects for the soccer and baseball complex.

on Fehling Road near Granite City South High School. Anyone interested in obtaining tickets for the dinner may call James DuMont, principal at South (877-1512), according to Joe Pedora, publicity committee chairman.

McKinley bridge use increasing

Traffic over the McKinley Bridge in Venice increased during the month of January despite the bad weather, according to Thomas Fields, bridge manager.

Reporting Tuesday evening to the Venice City Council, Fields said, "There were 242,680 vehicles that crossed the bridge during February. This is a daily average of 8,674 and an increase of 1,545 over that of the same month last year."

"We had an expansion joint buckle, but it is already being repaired and will cost about $1,000 to $2,000," Fields said. "I would really like to thank the people for using our bridge even though the weather caused us some problems. I am sure when the weather does clear and we get the automatic toll lanes in, our bridge will be even more convenient," Mayor William Ebersold said.

Street Superintendent

Thomas Scaturro said, "We have some streets that are in bad shape due to the ice, cold and now the thaw. About 50 percent of them need rock and to be rescaled. Third Street and Meredocia Avenue need resurfacing. "One sewer at Granville and Weber streets is causing a problem and we are working on that. Sunday, one of the pumps went out at the underpass and it is being repaired; however, the auxiliary pump is working."

A letter was read to the council by Mayor Ebersold from the New Salem Baptist church pastor, the Rev. Henry Allan, which complimented the Venice street department on its work during the snow. The February arrest report submitted by Chief of Police Ralph D. Brawley showed 13 adult arrests and two juvenile arrests, plus receipt of $350 in fines collected.

Says county leaders cut his funds for election

A Democratic precinct committeeman at Glen Carbon charged today that he has been cut 45 percent in the amount of money he had been allotted for workers in next Tuesday's primary election because he is not backing three candidates he had been asked by the "county organization" to support.

David Hammond, committeeman of Precinct 7, Edwardsville Township (Glen Carbon), protested that "that's what happens when you try to be honest. Some committeemen say they are backing certain candidates when they really aren't, and they get their money for precinct workers."

"I was honest about it and told them (organization leaders) that I couldn't go for three of the candidates endorsed by the organization. I learned later that my allotment of precinct money was going to be cut."

Hammond said he refused to support James Eates for sheriff, James Augustine for county treasurer and Sam Wolf for state representative of the 56th legislative district.

"I told Wolf that I thought he should run with another member of the ticket instead of single-shooting for three votes for himself," Hammond said. "I called him (Wolf) by phone and he hung up on me."

Hammond said that instead of the three candidates endorsed by the county organization, he intends to support Edward Vannard for sheriff, Michael Henkhaus for county treasurer and John Lucco NS Jim McKie for state representative.

Shaw speaks on construction image

Dr. Kenneth A. Shaw, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, was the principal speaker today at the kickoff of a united labor and management development program in the Southern Illinois construction industry.

More than 200 representatives of unions, contractors, designers and owners were expected to meet for lunch at Fischer's Restaurant at Belleville to formally launch "IMAGE," a program designed to promote growth and understanding of the construction industry and enhance the economy of this area.

At least 40 labor and management groups have indicated they will sign a memorandum of understanding of the guidelines for IMAGE, an acronym for "Involvement and Management Advance Growth and Employment."

The memorandum of understanding has specific provisions for buyers of construction, architects, engineers, contractors and unions. It is designed to promote productivity, reduce unnecessary building costs, and generally make the economics of building in Southern Illinois more desirable.

"I am delighted that labor and management are getting together, as it serves everyone's best interests, and I'm pleased to be a part of it," Dr. Shaw said. "This is something that could have a dramatic influence on the improvement of everyone's life in this region."

Those who will be signing the memorandum of understanding as representatives of major groups include: Stanley I Garst, chairman of the Owners Committee of the Council of Contractor Associations, representing the owners; William Horstman, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council, for labor; Ralph Korte, president of the Southern Illinois Builders Association, and C. E. Kuldell, executive director of the Council of Contractor Associations, for contractors; and Kenneth Kosar, president, American Institute of Architects, and Richard Barthelet, president, Consulting Engineers, for the designers.

IMAGE co-chairmen are Byron Farrell, vice-president of G. Helmkamp Excavating and Trucking Co., Wood River, and Robert A. Weis, business manager of Bricklayers Local 65 of Southwestern Illinois.

According to Farrell and Weis, the program is expected to bring to public attention improvements made within the area construction industry in recent years, as well as providing a vehicle for further improvements.

Contractor president Korte pointed to one benefit which, he said, "alone will make IMAGE worthwhile."

"That benefit is that labor and management will be meeting on a monthly basis in a calm atmosphere with but one purpose in mind — promoting the industry for the welfare of all concerned. This is a lot better than meeting in an adversary role when trying to settle a dispute."

Korte added, "Another benefit, one which is just as important, is that we will be doing everything we can to make construction more economical and productive for the buyer."

The Madison County Board was told yesterday that its legislative committee can find no law which obligates the county to provide ambulance service to areas not having such a service.

James Heil of Alton, chairman of the legislative committee, said he has received communications from Nameoki Township and Venice, indicating those townships may sue the county to test whether the responsibility for providing ambulances belongs to the county or the townships.

Heil read a state statute governing counties, and said, "A county has the right to provide ambulance service and to levy a 2.5 percent tax, unless a fire protection district serving the area already is levying a tax for ambulance service."

He also said the statute calls for a referendum before the tax can be levied and said the legislative committee does not feel it should call for a referendum on the issue until there are sufficient petitions to force the issue onto the ballot.

"A similar proposal in Godfrey Township was rejected six to one and we feel it would be the attitude of the voters to reject it in your area. We do not feel the county should spend a lot of money, at this time, on ballots for a referendum, all for naught," he stated.

He also said he did not feel a 2.5 cent tax per $100 assessed valuation would provide a sufficient amount of money to operate a county ambulance service, including purchasing ambulances and staffing them 24 hours-per-day with emergency medical technicians.

"We anticipate it would cost $60,000 to $80,000 per year for each ambulance, and that would cover only the salaries. The Health Systems Agency recognizes the problem, but has no solutions," Heil concluded.

Board Member Daniel Partney of Granite City, a partner in Thomas Ambulance, said his experience has been that only about 45 percent of ambulance bills can be collected and it is very difficult to operate ambulances in a break-even way.

Board Member Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township, noted his township agreed Monday night to contract with Granite City ambulance to serve the township, but doubts remain as to the legality of a township providing the service and the liability on the township in malpractice or injury lawsuits.

"This is a pretty loose thing for us to take hold of," Sparks said.

Member Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township said he does not feel townships are empowered by the state legislature to contract for ambulance service and feels the fire protection districts should have that responsibility.

Whitsell also noted the service offered by Granite City does not serve all of either Nameoki or Chouteau township. An additional problem he pointed out is that the Mitchell and Long Lake fire protection districts do not cover all of the townships they serve, and some areas are not in any fire protection district.

Partney said he is concerned that if an ambulance is wrecked outside of the Granite City limits, the taxpayers of Granite City will be responsible for repairing the ambulance and may be responsible for any lawsuits that might result.

He suggested the county look into how contracts between Granite City and the outside cities, townships and village city ambulances will serve are going to affect the residents of Granite City. His suggestion went unanswered.

South, North baseball games off

GRANITE CITY — Old Mother Nature has done it once again. The baseball season won't get started as quickly as previously anticipated.

The game between Granite City South and Proport which was set to kick off the season Monday has been called off because of the muddy conditions at the Warriors' diamond.

All of the Granite City North Steelers' games for next week have been postponed because of similar conditions at the Steelers' field.

In addition, the YMCA soccer clinic, which was to have been held tonight at 7 o'clock at St. Elizabeth's Field in Granite City and feature instruction by SUE soccer coach Bob Gueller and members of the Cougars squad, had been postponed and will be made up later.

Yates. "She's normally a pretty good outside shooter and she came through for us tonight."

Assumption's Constance Johnson forced Graham's last-second heroics when with 17 seconds remaining, she sank both ends of a one-and-one situation which moved the Pioneers into a 44-44 tie. Yates had called time out to make Johnson think a little more about her situation, but obviously, it had no effect.

Assumption's coach, Gary Rohr, thought for sure that South would go inside to Kathy Becherer for the last shot. He didn't even see Graham put the ball up.

"I felt for sure they'd go to Becherer," he said. "She was hot from there all night (16 points worth of hot)."

The Warriorettes led by six points at halftime, 25-19, but Assumption fought back and took a narrow one-point lead with two and a half minutes remaining in the quarter, 32-32.

Assumption's Johnson led all scorers in the contest with 21 points. Becherer's total paced the Warriorettes.

Free throws doomed the Pioneers. They hit a frigid six-of-17 from the charity stripe while South was making only 12 of 25. But it was good enough to conquer Assumption. The Pioneers had two more field goals than did the Warriorettes.

CAHOKIA II, NORTH 44
Rebounds and turnovers both aided the Cahokia Comanches and were a deterrent to North's Steelers Monday as the hosts of the regional tourney were ousted, 61-44, after rolling into regional play with a sub-sectional crown and winning streak of three games.

Cahokia out-rebounded the Steelers 43-20.

North was once again paced by Cheryl Schofield's high-powered scoring. She scored 23 points, 11 coming in the fourth quarter, all of the points North got in that final period.

"Our lack of rebounding and our turnovers definitely hurt us," said North Coach Lee Obermoller. "We just gave up the basketball too many times tonight. You can't do that against a good team like Cahokia and expect to win."

"But when all's said and done, it boils down to us beating ourselves. Because Cahokia wasn't THAT good."

The Steelers started out the game as if they were going to take another victory in their string of wins. They jumped out to a quick 16-6 lead with about four minutes remaining in the opening period.

But the Comanches went on a scoring spree and held the Steelers to only one point the rest of the way, taking an 18-17 lead after the first period.

The Steelers were only down by seven at halftime, 26-21, but Cahokia had already taken control of the game.

Cahokia coach Lee Triesenbach said the key to his squad's victory was movement. "We were working the ball in and out really well tonight," he said. "Everybody was hustling out there and that makes a difference."

The Steelers bow out of tournament play with a 6-8 record.

5 North students attend symposium

Five students of Granite City High School North attended the Midwest Regional Science, Engineering and Humanities Symposium at the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Students who attended from this area were: Mark Thoele, Russ Edwards, Chris Rogenski, Mary Gruwell, Dawn Stoyanoff and their sponsoring teacher, Robert Bischoff.

They were among 350 high ability science students from Missouri, Illinois and Kansas who were chosen by the University of Missouri-St. Louis on the basis of their achievement in science and the completion of an independent research project.

Some of the research projects submitted by the students included topics such as "Abnormal Blood Sugar," "Viscosity Changes of Oil with Use," "A Study of Optical Activity in Organic Isomers." During the three-day symposium, the participants visited university laboratories in biology, chemistry, computer science, mathematics, physics and psychology along with the industrial research facilities of Emerson Electric, McDonnell Douglas Corp., Monsanto Co., S. Weather Bureau. Students had the opportunity to eat lunch and talk with company scientists about research and career interests.

Students presented their original research papers before peers and a panel of judges to determine selection of university scholarships and a chance to attend the national symposium in New Jersey and the International in London, England.

The participants also had the opportunity to listen to internationally known speakers and panelists on the theme "Science as a Part of Society." Speakers included Dr. George W. Beale, Nobel Laureate in Medicine and Physiology; Professor Eugene J. Meehan on the process of science in society and Dr. Angelo H. Puricelli in a discussion of biotechnology.

An opportunity for students from around the state to socialize and to get to know each other was provided through a disco mixer held at the Executive International Inn.

The grant for the symposium was awarded by the U. S. Army Research Office, which sponsored the event in conjunction with UMSEL and the Missouri and Illinois Department of Education.

Lake Park

for a full park facility with boating, fishing, hunting, foot trails, scenic drives, playgrounds, camping, picnic areas and other recreational facilities.

Gross said it may have taken 1,000 years or 10,000 years for the lake to fill with sediment to its current level, so it may be hundreds of years before it becomes a dead lake, even if nothing is done.

Studies are underway to determine the rate of sedimentation which should give scientists an idea how long the lake will be "alive" without dredging or other major work. Core samples are being taken which will determine the depth of sediment in the lake as well as how fast the bottom is filling in, Gross added.

The authorities studying the lake and planning the park addressed about 80 persons at the seminar, which was sponsored by the Illinois Department of Conservation, the Illinois State Water and Geological Surveys and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission. Nineteen officials discussed the lake and plans for the park during the day-long event.

Among the speakers was David Kenney, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, who said Horseshoe Lake "is a challenging resource with great potential."

Richard Schaff, head of the Hydrology Section of the state water survey, reported on studies his department is about to conclude to determine numerous things about the lake, including the relationship between the ground water table and the lake water level.

Water quality, sedimentation, the lake's capacity, the extent of bank erosion and the geology of the lake are being studied. He said 14 cross-section surveys are to be made to study depths of the water, after which a bed elevation map will be prepared.

He noted the discharge from Granite City Steel's wastewater treatment facility keeps the surface level fairly constant and that the ground water level in this area is not likely to vary much, even in drouth conditions.

Gross discussed the formation of Horseshoe Lake, noting the Mississippi River formerly covered this area all the way to the bluffs and the lake was a part of the river. "When the river changed its course to the west," Gross said, "the lake was trapped."

Sand found 18 feet beneath the water level tells scientists that was the depth of the Mississippi River bed when it flowed over this area. It also indicates that 15 feet of sediment has accumulated on the bed of the lake since its formation.

One core sample showed sand at the 28 foot level and 25 feet of sediment on top of it. "We can conclude Horseshoe Lake is very late in its life cycle," Gross stated. He said samples also were taken from the current bed of the Mississippi River and were found to match the sand under the bottom of the lake, verifying that the river used to flow where the lake is.

Thornberry discussed the history of planning for a park here. He noted in 1855, the state created the Horseshoe Lake Commission, headed by Henry D. Karandjef. The Commission conducted a study and then presented the state a proposal for a 3,773-acre park and a 4,000-acre area for a wildlife refuge. Plans called for linking the Horseshoe Lake Park with the existing Cahokia Mounds State Park.

Estimates at that time were that land acquisition would cost $1.4 million, another half-million dollars should be put into recreational facilities, and $1.5 million could be used to dredge the lake bed and increase the depth.

"Since then, the costs have drastically increased," he noted. In 1968, the Illinois General Assembly gave $2 million to the Department of Conservation to begin acquisition of the land and in 1970, the department identified 3,500 acres needed for the park. To date, more than 1,000 acres have been purchased and 800 acres are being purchased, all at a cost of $3.5 million, Thornberry explained. A half-million dollars has been spent demolishing buildings there, he added.

Future planning calls for the park to connect to the 224-acre Cahokia Mounds State Park, and installation of a new ditch from Doherty Slough south and into the lake. Recreational facilities at Cahokia Mounds Park then will be moved to Horseshoe Lake, creating a full park complex which has cultural as well as recreational offerings, he said.

Access roads will be closed so there is only one entrance to the park, of Route 111 into the east side of the park. That area should be open this spring. Karandjef also spoke, saying he is hopeful the Department of Conservation will devote its energies toward the original plan of a 7,500-acre park which would include the Cahokia Mounds State Park. The park, as proposed, would be "of tremendous recreational value for our youngsters as well as our elders," Karandjef said. He noted the rapidly rising prices for land and park development and stated, "I hope we will not lose too much time in the acquisition of additional land and the development of it."

Theodore Mikecell, director of SWIMARPC, thanked Karandjef for his work on behalf of the lake and park, and recalled Karandjef once saying he had worked on the project "practically all of my life, but it seems longer."

Mikecell said the lake "has been abused, ignored and neglected. Yet, it remains a living lake and its life span may be determined by what we do, both at the lake and off the lake. It is going to require some compromise. Some give and some take."

State Rep. Everett Steele (R-Glen Carbon) said Horseshoe Lake is the largest natural lake in the state and is planning for a park there is well worth the efforts to solve its growing problems.

"The lake parks are an exciting new, including Forest Park, were planned two to three generations ago and it is important that this generation be doing the planning for future generations," he said. "The planning can include drainage, as well as recreation," Steele said.

State Sen. Mike Pike (D-Alton) said meetings, such as Monday's, in which the people of an area make their feelings known to their legislators, help keep the senators and representatives "out of the legislature in touch with all the people."

He suggested the Department of Conservation consider restrictions on Walker Island to nature trails and shore fishing, so it can remain a refuge for ducks, geese and waterfowl. He opposed camping, vehicle traffic, hunting and other activities on the island which would disrupt the birds from nesting.

He also objected to the current duck hunting hours, which end at noon each day, saying the lake traditionally has been used for duck hunting and he saw no reason why hunters should not be allowed to hunt until 3 p.m. or 3:30 p.m. each day, as with other state parks.

He suggested campgrounds be developed on the southern peninsula and along Route 111, and the northern shore along Route 1. Driveways where homes near Route 162 have been torn down would be suitable for picnic areas, but would not be suitable for camping, since they are not well protected, he said.

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) said every effort should be made to assure that the park be developed to meet the needs of the entire population, hunters, wildlife lovers, fishermen, campers, and those who want to enjoy the entire area for a wildlife preserve. That does not make sense to me," Vadalabene said. He stated that financially, "We have long since passed the point of no return. Now, let's get the job done."

Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice also urged "a full speed approach" to completing the park. "We need help here. We have drainage problems and the levee district needs a holding area for its drainage."

"We have been talking about Hillside drainage for many years. A lot of planning, a lot of talk, but nothing is being done. Like in the old days, if it needs done, let's get the money allotted and let the job done," Ebersold said.

Mrs. Helen Hawkins of Nameoki Township, who was invited to speak as a concerned citizen, pointed out the importance of the lake development to improve drainage throughout the area. "We've got the water if you've got the place to put it," she told planners.

She urged the Department of Conservation to keep the level of the water in the lake low and to dredge the lake to help lower the ground water level in the area.

William Nichols, landowner and resident of the lake area, reviewed the history of the lake, including times when it dried up completely and residents grew corn in the lake bed.

He noted the lake level has been higher than it is at this time. He also urged the officials to protect the water quality, and noted numerous fish kills in the lake recent years, including one last December.

He also said he has restocked the lake with fish twice and noted fish from the Mississippi River can no longer reach the lake through the Cahokia Canal due to pollution in the canal "which kills the fish before they can get up to the lake."

Nichols opposed parking on Walker's Island, saying he feels 80,000 to 100,000 geese can be supported on the island. He also asked the Department of Conservation for a lack of police and fire protection and urged that a site manager be assigned to the park immediately.

Dr. Donald Cairns, vice-president of Granite City Steel who is in charge of environmental programs, said the new wastewater treatment plant his company has put into operation discharges water purer than the water already in the lake and purer than the Mississippi River where the plant obtains it.

He noted the company has reduced its output of water to the lake from about 58,000 gallons per day to just under 25 million gallons per day.

"I assure you Granite City Steel will continue to be a responsible neighbor and will participate in the study and will help to implement that policy."

Al Wilmarth, chief engineer for SWIMARPC, said his commission's main job is to help bring people together and try to reach compromises in the best interest of all in this region.

"The key words are talk and compromise," he stated. He noted SWIMARPC has just completed a two-year water quality study and compromise will be necessary to improve water quality of this area.

Donald R. Vonnahme, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, summarized why compromises will be necessary in planning the park.

He said his department, which is responsible for flood control, would like to see the lake completely dry as a potential storage area for water in heavy rains. Fishermen and boaters would like the lake kept at a high level. Conservation people would like the lake level to fluctuate, providing the best conditions needed by some animals.

"We will have to make some tradeoffs for a comprehensive, multi-purpose facility," he concluded.

Wendell Wheadon, executive director of the Metro-East Sanitary District, pledged his district "stands ready to cooperate and participate in all aspects of the planning and construction and to assist this area's growth and development."

Wheadon said the sanitary district is primarily responsible for transporting water from the lake to the Mississippi River and is working on "a reasonable and realistic flood plain or distance," with several agencies involved in that planning.

Robert L. Schleuter, a professional engineer and regional manager of the Division of Water Pollution Control, Field Operation Section, of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, said his agency is conducting numerous tests on the water quality and chemical makeup of the sediment.

He noted high concentrations of heavy metals in the sediment and said it is not yet known if the sediment will need to be dredged for the lake to meet future water quality standards.

He said Granite City Steel is meeting all EPA discharge standards with its new wastewater treatment plant and the overall water quality in the lake is "reasonably good."

The last speaker was Colonel Leon McKinney, chief of the St. Louis District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, who said Horseshoe Lake will plan an important role in drainage plans for the future.

The Cahokia Canal and Horseshoe Lake drainage study is to begin in the next two weeks with the environmental study and soil study this year. We hope to complete the full study in Fiscal 1981, three years hence.

"I assure the Department of Conservation it will have complete cooperation in its planning. Anything we can do to help you get where you want to go, we'll do it," he said.

go quicker, we will be glad to do it," Col. McKinney pledged.

Mikecell summarized the meeting, noting the importance of planning a multi-purpose park with many interests in mind. He urged the Department of Conservation to create a task force to advise in certain portions of the planning.

Task force members should be from the conservation department, the Department of Transportation, water survey, EPA, soil and water conservation service, local elected officials, sanitary district and others, he suggested.

He also suggested a policy group be created to study measures which can be taken in the area to reduce sediment and dirt in the drainage ditches and into the lake.

"Some money must be spent outside of the project area, but I think this is well worth working for," Mikecell said.

Kenney said the Department of Conservation will give consideration to the proposal for a task force on the park project.

A question and answer session followed the talks, during which Kenney said efforts are being made to increase hunting and fishing license fees to raise at least $5 million more for park development in the state.

Proposed is an increase in fishing licenses from $2 to $5 and hunting licenses would increase from $3 to $7, he said.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Susan Hessel to attend scouts survival project

By DONNA HARTWICK

Press-Record Staff Writer

Miss Susan Hessel, 17-year-old senior student at Granite City High School North, has been selected to attend a 1978 Wilder Opportunity project, a national opportunity in survival skills offered by Michigan Capitol Girl Scout Council.

The program is designed to include training in survival and an actual survival experience, and for the Girl Scout to learn what it is like and what it takes to live off nature through one's own knowledge, skill and resourcefulness, with little recourse to the things and services normally in a civilized society.

There will be 40 girls from throughout the nation between the ages of 15 and 18 who will participate in the Scouts on Survival (SOS) project. They will be housed in a dormitory on the campus of Michigan State University. There they will study with Dr. Paul Risk at the Wilderness Survival Lab and take part in some of the activities available on the campus.

The girls will practice their skills in the field with competent resource people and trained staff at a base camp in Harrison, Mich.

After the preliminary training, the Girl Scouts will travel to Beaver Island in Lake Michigan, and in isolated groups, with only their survival kits, will be on their own to utilize their knowledge and skills in living off nature.

Although the 21-day experience will be challenging, it will be controlled to avoid any actual danger and each group will have a walkie-talkie to use if necessary. Competent assistance will be ready in case of an emergency.

The event will end in East Lansing with hospitality, evaluation and review and tours of the city.

To qualify for the extended training program an applicant must be in cadette or senior level of Girl Scouting and first make application to her own council. A review is made by the local council members and a personal interview is arranged with someone on the council who is acquainted with the candidate.

After being accepted at the

local level the application is sent to the Committee for Wider Opportunities, and a final selection is made for the summer training schedule.

Each Girl Scout selected for the program is required to pay the fee of $225 and the cost of round-trip transportation to East Lansing, Mich., and provide their personal equipment.

Miss Hessel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hessel, Rural Route One, Granite City, has been involved in Girl Scouting since she enrolled in the program as a second-grade student at Wilson School.

She has been accepted at the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, Urbana, for the fall term in the School of Agriculture, Department of Animal Sciences. Miss Hessel plans to continue her education to become a doctor of veterinary.

Couple attend 150th church anniversary

They attended the 150th anniversary of the Presbyterian Church in Hillsboro, where the father of Mrs. Thompson, had served as minister.

The late Mrs. J. Sager pastored the Hillsboro church for five years during 1910 to 1924.

NINA T. SHEPHERD

Jerome A. Cosentino

Mrs. Shepherd faces Cosentino

Nina Shepherd has her work cut out for her.

If she is to defeat Jerome Cosentino for the Democratic nomination for state treasurer, she must carry precincts outside the City of Chicago by a 2-1 margin.

Since Cosentino was endorsed by the Democratic state Central Committee, he can expect to receive 70 percent or more of the vote in the City of Chicago.

That would translate into a plurality of nearly 200,000 votes, an analysis of voting records shows.

The remainder of the state — Cook County suburbs, the collar counties and Downstate — would then have to produce a 2-1 margin for Mrs. Shepherd to upset him.

She is counting on Downstate and suburban disgust with Chicago's dominance in the state-making process to provide her base of support.

"State-making was an absolute disgrace," she said at a meeting of the Democratic County Chairmen's Association.

"The party leaders let us down. A handful of people in Chicago made the decision. We shouldn't have to pay the price for four years for their mistake."

"It's incredibly poor judgment to slate two members of the Sanitary District for state office. Just stupid politics."

Most party leaders — at least from Downstate — agree with her, and have said so publicly.

But that doesn't necessarily translate into votes for her. Mrs. Shepherd is experienced in government and politics, serving on the University of Illinois board of trustees and being involved at the state and national levels in party affairs.

And many persons think having a woman on the ticket is also an advantage. But when the politicians get down to the reality of the situation, they know she doesn't have much to offer them.

The state treasurer has only a few patronage jobs to dispense, and can do hardly any favors for the politicians.

She is also at a disadvantage in terms of raising campaign money. She will not be able to raise enough to buy the expensive television advertisements.

Cosentino, by comparison, is independently wealthy and is willing to spend as much money as necessary in the campaign.

Cosentino, despite his connection with Chicago, actually resides in Palos Heights. And he is the committeeman in his township, which will strengthen his position with the other suburban committeemen.

In addition, he has strong labor support.

One other factor is being pointed out. When the state committee voted its endorsement for treasurer last fall, Cosentino received 13 votes, Grace Mary Stern received 11 votes and Mrs. Shepherd received none.

Even she admits a large turnout of voters is needed in the primary if she is to be successful. But few persons seem to be paying attention to politics this election year in some parts of Illinois.

Mrs. Shepherd, 44, resides in Winnetka.

Cosentino, 46, along with being a member of the scandal-plagued Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District, owns a trucking firm he built from one truck into a multi-million-dollar business operating in 48 states.

As a member of the University of Illinois board since 1974, Mrs. Shepherd has served on its budget committee and devoted much time to budgetary issues. She has sought professional advice on the role of the treasurer's office and notes that Cosentino favors keeping the operation the same. She adds that improvements are needed for four years for their mistake.

The incumbent, Donald Smith, was appointed to the office and is not seeking election.

Cosentino's backers say none of the Sanitary District problems has involved him, and that he shouldn't be tainted by "guilt by association." They describe his record of public service as extensive and successful, and cite his considerable business experience.

Cosentino is personally financing his campaign, at a cost of $150,000, while his opponent has raised $10,000. His husband is an investment banker but owns no bank stock.

One of a family of 14, he is married and the father of five children. He has served as MSD vice-chairman of finance, administering the third largest governmental budget in Illinois, and initiated legal action to recover $32 million in penalties and overcharges resulting from a contract negotiated prior to his election to the district board.

Mrs. Shepherd, a senior consultant for Horizons Laboratory, advises corporations on getting the most out of their employees through assisting them in education and career planning.

The mother of two teenage sons, she notes that as a university trustee she oversees a $500 million annual budget and investments of $30 million.

Restaurant sanitation instruction

Frank Kraus, coordinator of the Belleville Area College-Granite City Extension Center, is reminding all area food-service managers that a new foodservice sanitation course will begin at Granite City High School South on Tuesday, March 28.

The eight-week class lasts from 7 to 9:45 p.m. each Tuesday. Registration may be completed the first night of class in Room 125, GCHS South. Tuition for the class is $16.50; books cost $13.

Tuition, books and transportation are tax deductible as business-related expenses for those employed in foodservice operations. More information concerning the class, which will prepare students to take the foodservice certification examination, may be obtained at 876-7570.

State legislation requiring certified foodservice sanitation workers in all establishments goes into effect July 1, 1978.

DENNIS ORSEY
Student Bar President

Dennis Orsey named student bar president

Dennis James Orsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Orsey, 1528 Clark Ave., has been elected to serve as the 1978-79 president of the Student Bar Association at Southern Illinois University School of Law at Carbondale.

As president, Orsey will work closely with Dean Hiram Lesar, dean of the Law School as well as the rest of the faculty in arranging guest speakers, law forums, and other special events for the Law School.

Orsey, a second-year law student, will serve as an ex-officio member on all 11 of the standing Law School faculty committees in addition to presiding over all meetings of the Student Bar Association. A major commitment of Orsey's time this year will be allocated working toward the passage and final approval of a bill now in the state legislature to build a new $8 million law building at the SIUC campus.

Orsey, a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School South, hopes to spend this summer working as a law clerk with a local law firm in Granite City.

Percy seeks a third term

U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy has opted in next Tuesday's Republican primary election in Illinois but is confident of being nominated to seek a third six-year Senate term in November.

His primary opponent, Lar "America First" Daly has made no campaign this year but is "recalled as running for statewide office numerous times in the past, attired in an Uncle Sam suit."

Why he continues to seek — and obtain — the required number of signatures on his petitions of candidacy remains a mystery.

A tally shows Daly is making his 42nd try at winning public office — a goal he has yet to achieve.

A member of the Senate for the past 12 years, Percy has not felt the need to respond to issues raised by either of the two Democratic candidates, not has he mentioned Daly.

As the Percy camp sees it, Democrat Alex Sotth doesn't seem to be making much headway in gaining voters' attention.

And Democrat Anthony R. Martin-Trigona is viewed as getting the wrong kind of visibility, filing a multitude of lawsuits against persons with whom he clashes.

The incumbent senator has been campaigning actively not only for himself but for other Republican candidates, as well as attending to legislative duties. He believes his party could regain control of the Illinois House.

Percy has been pushing for reform of federal regulatory agencies, and also has been involved in debates on labor law revision and terms of the proposed new Panama Canal treaty.

Now 58, Percy no longer is regarded as a potential candidate for U.S. president. But his son-in-law might make the attempt someday.

A World War II Navy veteran, he formerly was president and chairman of Bell & Howell Co. He headed the Ford Foundation's Fund for Adult Education, which was instrumental in starting 43 U.S. educational television stations.

Honored at model UN event

Mark Jiles, son of Mrs. Helen Jiles, 119 Second St., Madison, was a member of the Illinois College delegation that received an honor as one of the outstanding groups attending a model United Nations assembly in St. Louis last week.

A 1976 graduate of Madison High School, Jiles is a sophomore biology major.

He is a member of Sigma Pi literary society. Illinois College, located in Jacksonville, is a fully-accredited, private, liberal arts school founded in 1859. A 16-1 student-faculty ratio is maintained to encourage a "quality learning relationship" at the first college in the state to have graduated a class.

Charges pending laboratory test

Depending on results of a lab test, warrants may be sought against a rural Granite City youth and a Pontoon Beach youth whose pickup truck reportedly went through a stop sign at St. Clair Avenue and Nameoki Road and was stopped by a police officer at Nameoki and Wilson Avenue at 11:55 p.m. Tuesday.

A strong odor of cannabis was evident inside the truck cab, police said, and a search allegedly disclosed a large plastic bag with two other plastic sacks inside, containing a quantity of cannabis and a cannabis scale.

The driver was charged with disobeying a stop sign, pending further investigation.

Realtor to aid miners

The Granite City Real Estate firm of King and Hoffman, 2848 Madison Ave., has completed arrangements to aid coal miners and their families during the strike by sending donations to the Illinois Miners Relief Fund, 106 W. Fifth St., West Frankfort, Ill., according to Carl Hoffman, co-owner of the firm.

Hoffman announced his firm will donate $50 from each real estate transaction completed by the office, effective today and continuing until the strike is settled.

"Although contributions to this specific fund are not tax deductible, the money is needed to help the miners and their families and we hope other area residents will respond to the needs of these people by sending donations," Hoffman added.

"I am especially interested in this project as members of my family worked in the mines at various times and my grandfather, Fred Hoffman, died in a mine disaster many years ago," Hoffman said.

Raymond Hoffman, father of the local realtor, was employed in the coal mines as a young man and prior to his moving to the Granite City area. At the present time, two cousins, Dwayne and William Hoffman, are employees of mines in Southern Illinois.

All contributions sent to the West Frankfort address will be used to assist Illinois miners and will not be forwarded to other areas, Hoffman noted.

Bakalis needs an issue, may make it school aid

BY KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — If you arrive early at the Statehouse you may encounter at the newsstand a young man who looks like he doesn't have a cure in the world.

But if that were indeed your evaluation, you would be wrong on several counts. For the pleasant youngster with the Kennedy hair is, at 39, well into the sobering realm of middle age. And, as for problems, he has perhaps the biggest one facing anyone in Illinois.

How to get elected governor!

For this is Michael J. Bakalis who became a boy wonder of politics in 1970 by becoming the youngest person ever to be elected state superintendent of public instruction.

Now some eight years later he may be fighting for his political life.

However, the fact that Bakalis is a different brand in Illinois is not surprising among nervous Democrats that he may again stage a political surprise and upset heavily favored Republican incumbent James R. Thompson.

"You can't count Mike out," is a familiar Statehouse comment and in the light of his track record he is truly one to be taken lightly.

Bakalis appears to have a cakewalk in the Democratic primary with only token opposition from perennial candidate Dakin Williams. After that the going gets much rougher.

For the feeling in Illinois political circles is that after the March primary Bakalis is going to have to come up with some solid campaign issues or see Big Jim ride far away in a cloud of dust.

For the general impression is that the Bakalis campaign is just about where it started last December. If he has made any gains or if Thompson has slipped any, there is little tangible evidence of it.

Bakalis' occasional jobs at Thompson on revenue and fiscal issues, fired from the vantage point of the comptroller's office, have fallen flat.

Even Bakalis' own news releases unavoidably reflect the fact that Illinois finances have become stabilized under Thompson after the gyrations under former Gov. Dan Walker.

Now Bakalis is exploring the area of state aid to education as a possible Thompson point of vulnerability. He has attacked the governor's proposed educational outlays to be included in the new stage budget.

Potentially, there are political points to be made here. Those in the education field, whether local school board members or administrators, or presidents of great public universities invariably want — and no doubt need — more money.

But their desires frequently come into conflict with what the Legislature and the governor feel can be made available in line with overall state obligations.

This is increasingly so in an era when a taxpayers' revolt of unprecedented dimensions appears to be gathering force across the United States.

Thompson may irritate professional school people by withholding part of which they might want, but he is likely to gain favor with the taxpayers by saving them from further increases.

Restoration of fiscal stability and holding the line on taxes are key planks in Thompson's re-election drive and there is no sign whatever that Bakalis will be able to undermine them.

Bakalis, whose political courage is to be admired if his political acumen is to be doubted, has the added disadvantage of tackling incumbent governor who has only served two years.

Illinois voters over the years have been inclined to give any governor at least two terms. With Thompson having had only a two-year term this inclination is likely to be even more pronounced this year.

What has toppled incumbent governors in the past? Let's take a look at the record.

Dan Walker had only one term, but basically because of his own doing. He irritated the legislators and leaders of his own party. He precipitated a bitter primary fight that so shattered the Democrats that even a once highly popular figure like Michael J. Howlett did not stand chance against Thompson.

Republican Richard B. Ogilvie, generally credited with being an excellent and far-seeing governor, went down the drain after only one term because of his advocacy of the unpopular state income tax.

Ogilvie himself won election as governor in 1968 mainly because Democratic incumbent Otto Kerner dropped out of the picture late in the game to accept a federal judgeship. Illinois voters, as they have been reluctant to do over the years, refused to elevate acting Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro to a full four-year term.

Kerner had coasted to the first of his two terms in the last third term reaction against two-term Republican Gov. William G. Stratton.

None of these factors or others on the horizon are present to help Bakalis. Sometimes scandal, or a hint of scandal, has emerged to affect the governor's race.

But former U.S. Prosecutor Thompson has kept a tight ship. The prospect of any major scandal making headlines between now and election day is considered highly unlikely.

Bakalis is going to have to keep looking hard for an issue. Unlike 1970 he's going to need a lot more than just a little bit of luck.

Three charged

When a police officer saw a vehicle travel through a red light at Madison Avenue and 20th Street at 2:05 a.m. Wednesday, he stopped the driver at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues and allegedly found an empty beer can and a full can of beer in the vehicle.

Scott C. Briggs, 30, of 1924 Johnson Road, was charged with disobeying a traffic signal light and ordered to appear for a hearing March 15. Two passengers, Larry Wade Collard, 32, of St. Louis, and Tamara L. Vail, 17, of 2561 Buenger Blvd., were charged with illegal possession of alcohol and told to appear April 16. All three were released on payment of $35 cash bond.

Burglary attempt

Nelson Hediger, owner-operator of the Travelodge, 1200 Nineteenth St., reported at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday an attempted burglary had been made at the motel by prying and tampering with the lock to a linen room. Later the same day, Hediger informed police that two other doors to linen rooms located on different floors, were similarly damaged.

VANDALS DAMAGE CAR
Michael Przygoda, 2400 Sheridan Ave., reported at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday that vandals attempted to gain entry into the trunk of his 1977 Plymouth, damaging the lock, sometime Monday night.

The program, sponsored by Church Women United in the Quad-Cities (CWU), was preceded with an interlude of organ music, played by James Havranek.

Mrs. Marion Pierson, CWU president, greeted the members and guests and explained the work of the church women's group and reviewed several on-going projects.

March meeting of Hilltoppers

The Hilltoppers Club of St. John United Church of Christ met at the church on Tuesday for a noon pot luck dinner and welcomed 23 members and three guests, Leona Sues, Clova Taylor and Fred Clark. After the luncheon Mrs. Taylor was enrolled as a new member and a short business meeting was conducted. Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer and cards were sent to three members who are ill, it was noted.

A card was also sent to newlyweds Mrs. and Mrs. Elmon L. Whitell. Members agreed to postpone a catered dinner planned for the winter months.

Oliver Pfeiffer opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. Helen Pfeiffer gave a reading and devotional lesson followed by an afternoon of games and social discussions.

Mrs. Betty Bryant, World Day of Prayer chairman, described the objectives and history of the annual celebration.

The call to worship was given by Mrs. Esther Baumberger and Captain (Mrs.) Cathy Tompkins of the Salvation Army led the group in singing the hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King," accompanied by Havranek at the organ.

The New Life Singers presented vocal selections, including "For Those Tears I Died." The Lord's Prayer was led by Mrs. Madge Talley and scripture readings and responses were by Mrs. Lois Nelson, Mrs. Lillian Ketterly, Mrs. Helen Miller and Mrs. Bryant.

Sister Geraldine, a member of Pastoral Care at St. Elizabeth Hospital, was the principal speaker and used the World Day of Prayer theme, "Community Spirit in Modern Living," as her subject.

The Rev. Charlotte Zachary, pastor of the host church, led the participants in reflections on the program theme, asking those present to search themselves "why prosperity frequently drives people apart, while adversity usually brings individuals and nations closer together."

A generous offering was received for furthering the work of missions and prayer requests were placed on the offering plate. At the conclusion of the service, the requests were distributed for individual prayer offerings.

Mrs. Bryant gave the benediction. Women from the Madison Presbyterian Church served refreshments.

Serving on the World Day of Prayer committee and as ushers were Mrs. Mae Lee, Mrs. Ertha Johnson, Mrs. Tompkins, Mrs. Helen Miller and Mrs. Thelma Stover.

Amsted to make offer for Henry Pratt Co., Aurora

Golf Smith, president of Amsted Industries, Inc., Chicago, and Vernon H. Haase, chairman of the board, and Henry C. Schwenk, president, of Henry Pratt Company, Aurora, announced March 10 that Amsted has purchased approximately 34 percent of the outstanding shares of common stock of Pratt.

The purchase was made from Haase, Schwenk and two other principal stockholders at $20 per share net in cash.

They said the sale will be rescinded if Amsted does not proceed with a purchase offer at the same price to all stockholders of Pratt. The purchase offer to all stockholders is to commence on March 24 and remain open for 20 days.

Smith said Amsted has no intention of changing the management of Pratt.

Haase and Schwenk said that in their opinion the purchase offer is in the best interest of Pratt's stockholders. The board of directors of Pratt has concurred in their opinion and has recommended the purchase offer to the stockholders.

Pratt is engaged in the design, manufacture and sale of valves and fluid control devices for use in industry, municipal and privately-owned water and sewerage works, and power generating plants.

Amsted is a leading supplier of freight car components and serves a broad variety of industrial and construction markets. It operates the American Steel Foundries' Granite City plant, the world's largest steel foundry.

Teachers will visit Education School

More than 3,500 teachers from public and non-public schools in Madison County will congregate at SIUE on Wednesday, March 22, to participate in the county-wide spring 1978 Teachers' Institute, according to Regional Superintendent of Schools
Harold E. Briggs.

Three nationally-known speakers will be featured in the Meridian Ballroom of the University Center during the 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. program.
Teachers may choose among 40 optional sessions, in addition to over 50 exhibits of information and materials on new methods of education, books and learning tools, including audio-visual aids on both floors of the University Center.

Special events, new this year, are a School of Education open house and displays in Buildings 11 and 111, a diffusion display of exemplary programs, both in the state and nationally, in front of the Opatz Lounge in the University Center; a display by the General Studies Department of SIUE on study skills; and an academic survival kit, in the University Center Lounge.
The planning committee for the institute consisted of representatives from every school district in the county.

"A quality program so diversified that every certified person in Madison County will benefit has resulted," Briggs commented.

All certified teachers, whether or not employed, are entitled to attend.

All non-public school teachers are being invited and guests will be welcome.

All public schools in Madison County, and some of the nonpublic schools, will be closed March 22 so that teachers may attend.

The featured speakers:
Marilyn Van Derbur will appear at 8:30 a.m., speaking on "Turning On the Turned Off."
Miss Van Derbur, a graduate of the University of Colorado, is a television and radio personality. In 1969, she addressed over 250,000 teenagers in high school assemblies from Maine to California.

This involvement convinced her of a need for motivational work with youth.

In addition to her adult speaking commitments, she devoted three years to creating writing, teaching and evaluating a mini-course for public schools. So many principals and teachers requested the course that she formed the
Marilyn Van Derbur
Motivational Institute, which is now releasing films and cassettes for use within the classroom.

During the past 12 years, she has spoken to thousands of business and educational groups from Bangkok to Brussels, from IBM to Kodak, and from the European Council of Schools to Sales and Marketing Executives International. She is a former Miss America.

Dr. Joseph M. Cronin, superintendent of Education in Illinois, will address the group at 10:10 a.m. on "The Future of Illinois Education," covering

and administrators.

He was appointed in January 1975 as state superintendent by the State Board of Education and serves as chairman of the Teacher Certification Board, president of the Illinois Teacher Retirement System and commissioner of the Education Commission of the States.

Dr. Cronin studied and taught at Harvard University and earned his doctorate at Stanford University. He has been a classroom teacher, department head, principal, professor, dean and state secretary of education.

"The Challenge of Teaching,
The Youth of Today" is the 11:45 topic of Edward "Ed" Macaulay, giving reflections on his experience in competitive situations as applicable to teaching young people today.

Known as "Easy Ed" to the sports public, he is now an investment broker. Macaulay was named an all-state basketball player while at St. Louis University High School.
He was chosen the most valuable player on the St. Louis University Billikins in 1948.

Following his professional career with the St. Louis Bombers and Boston Celtics, he coached the St. Louis Hawks and the East-West all-star team.

He continued as a teacher to younger players by starting the Ed Macaulay Basketball Camps to train grade and high school athletes. At present, these camps operate in six states.

Granite City has 67.4 phones for each 100 persons

Evanson, Illinois has as many telephones as people—100 telephones for every 100 people.
Another Illinois city,
Springfield, has 99.8 telephones for every 100 people. Granite City has 67.4.

These and other details are in the new edition of "The World's Telephones," published annually by American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Americans had some 155 million telephones and placed more than 210 billion calls in 1976. Washington, D.C. maintained its number one spot as the city with the greatest number of telephones—145.8—per 100 residents.

Other cities with more telephones than people were:
Southfield, Mich., with 141 phones per 100 people;
Stockholm, Sweden, 114.9;
Geelong, Australia, 110.4; San Francisco, Calif., 108.1;
Fullerton, Calif., 106.7; Paris,
France, 105.9; Palo Alto, Calif., 105; Zurich, Switzerland, 104.3;
and Newport Beach, Calif., 103.8.

AT&T obtains statistics for "The World's Telephones" from more than 200 countries and territories. The figures are as of

Jan. 1, 1977, because it takes a year to compile and publish them.

The world added 18.6 million telephones during 1976 for a year-end total of more than 398 million, 4.9 percent more than the previous year. Japan ranked second in numbers of phones, behind the U.S., with 48.4 million. The United Kingdom has 22 million telephones, West Germany had 21 million, and Russia was fifth with 18 million phones.

No other nation out-paced the United States on the phone.
France was second with more than 35 billion phone calls during the year. Sweden was third with 18 billion.

The U.S. also led in the number of phones per 100 residents with a national average of 71.8. Sweden had 68.9 phones per 100 people and Switzerland had 63.8.

Twenty-nine metropolitan areas in the world, including Chicago, have a million or more telephones.

The AT&T publication doesn't say what would happen if all these phones rang at the same time.

Candidate Survey

As a public service to the voters of this state, the Illinois Federation for Right to Life presents these results of a survey of Illinois candidates on the issue of the Right to Life and a Human Life Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

This survey does not represent an endorsement of any candidate but provides Illinois voters with an accurate guide to the candidates' stand on this important issue.

The I.F. asked each candidate if he would vote for a Human Life Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, (or its ratification, for State Officials), as follows:

Section 1

With respect to the right to life, the word person as used in this article and in the Fifth and Fourteenth Articles of Amendment to the Constitution of the United States applies to all human beings irrespective of age, health, including their unborn offspring at every stage of their biological development.

Section 2

No unborn person shall be deprived of life by any person, provided, however, that nothing in this article shall prohibit a law permitting only those procedures required to prevent the death of the mother.

Section 3

The Congress and the several states shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Candidates turn out in snow, ice to tell qualifications

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
About 60 persons attended candidate night of the Granite City Democratic Club last week to hear candidates for state senator and representative, Circuit Court judge and Madison County Board review their positions and qualifications.

Most of the candidates running for those offices were present, despite icy streets which caused a heavy snowstorm.

The meeting was the second at which the club heard candidates for county and state offices review their qualifications and platforms.

The first meeting, held in February, was to meet candidates for sheriff, county clerk, and school superintendent for the educational service region.

It was announced a third candidate night is to be held in April to meet school board candidates. Other planned programs include a debate on right-to-work legislation in May; an informational meeting on the Comprehensive Educational and Training Act (Manpower) program in June; and a panel discussion in July on law enforcement and crime, including rape and sexual abuse.

Dewey Melton conducted last week's program in the absence of club president Von Dee Cruse, who was out of town.

Steve Margulies of Granite City, state senator hopeful, was the first speaker on the program, which brought the speakers out in the order their names will be listed on the March 21 ballots.

He said he was raised locally and will always put this community first in his actions, if elected. He supported the Equal Rights Amendment and education, training, and country and many other avenues. His encouragement will help him take advantage of these opportunities.

"In the Air Force," the general officer continued, "we offer each individual room to grow as a person, through education, training, service to country and many other avenues. Your encouragement will help him take advantage of these opportunities."

HUSBAND IS CHARGED
Carl A. Shavers, 19, of 2141 Benton St., was charged with battery after he allegedly struck his wife, Linda Shavers, early this week. A neighbor yelled at him to halt the assault and he fled, leaving in an auto, but returned about one hour later when he was arrested police reported. He was released on a notice to appear in court.

REINHARDT—Realtor

An important project he said he would support if the proposed major airport at Columbia and Waterloo in Illinois and would vote to continue funding of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, which is doing the planning for that airport.

Margulies said he would display youth and vigor and be readily accessible to the people, he added.

Dan O'Neill of Alton, another candidate for state senator, said, "This area is beginning to lose control of our government and we are not getting our share of the government we are supporting."

He proposed bids on campaign spending so poor and middle-income people can afford to run for office, and said the state needs stronger financial disclosure legislation.

Vadalabene answered the charge on the farm assessment tax bill, saying houses on farm property will be assessed and taxed the same as homes in cities. "Taxing a farm land would be based, in part, on productivity," he said.

He also said downstate is getting its share of the state's money, noting that of a $600 million highway program in Illinois, this area got $100 million.

He said he is proud of his work on improving Route 200, on extending Route 3 to McKinley Bridge in Venice, on funding the Chicago Avenue overpass of Route 2 on the grant for the Venice Broadway underpass, and on other road projects.

He also said he is proud of his achievements for education, including a $2,750,000 grant to Madison to construct a new school and $71 million in federal funds to expand Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville which serves 1,100 students from the Quad-City area.

Referring to his controversial stand opposing the Equal Rights Amendment, Vadalabene stated, "It's no secret how I stand on ERA."

He called himself "a full-time senator," and said that he has one of the best labor records in the Senate the last six consecutive years. "I don't know how I could say any harder," he concluded.

In a brief State Representative Jim McPike of Alton said meetings such as these of the Democratic Club are an important part of grassroots government.

"Two years ago, you gave me the greatest honor of my life being elected as your representative. I quit my job to be a full-time representative. As money than I was making, I have worked hard and have visited many homes to find out what people are thinking."

"I introduced bills on financial ethics and voted on over 2,000 bills this year, trying to take a common-sense approach to politics and to each bill."

The other Democratic incumbent, Rep. Joe Lucco, outlined his background and told the crowd he remains behind the Right-to-Life movement and against gun control.

He said he is proud of his achievements as chairman of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission, including planning for a 300-acre coal blending facility at the Tri-City Regional Port here.

Lucco noted he is endorsed by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, but said, "If elected, I will have some questions and more to say about Madison County Democratic politics."

He did not further clarify the statement.

He also said he is endorsed by organized labor, but does not feel he is receiving a sufficient amount of support from unions. Representative candidate Joan Seamen was unable to attend, but a friend expressed the candidate's apologies for her absence.

Former representative Sam Wolf of Granite City, who is hoping to regain his seat, noted he is a lifelong resident of this area and has been a businessman here many years. He also is a legislative assistant to the secretary of state's office, and is secretary of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, he said.

He said he is in favor of pro-life, and cannot support abortion on demand at taxpayers' expense. He supports full funding of education, eliminating insurance companies' increased incentives for new industrial development and more programs to aid senior citizens.

Also present was William "Bill" Johnson, who is challenging incumbent Circuit Judge A. A. "Andy" Matosian in his bid for election.

Johnson said he has served as a magistrate and associate judge in every court in the Third Judicial Circuit, including Madison City, for more than three years.

He said he worked many jobs before going into the military. "I did it the hard way and that is what the Democratic party stands for. It is for the average, hard-working man."

He said he has been known as "a law-and-order judge," and controversial issues. She said she has opposed sanitary sewers for several reasons, including paying taxes for them while simultaneously paying Metro-East Sanitary District taxes for drainage.

She said she is not ashamed of being among those who took the issue to court, "which did not honor the rights of the taxpayers," he concluded.

Matosian was unable to attend, but his daughter, Jane, received unanimous appointment by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill a circuit judge vacancy and noted the Madison County attorneys in the Illinois Bar Association have endorsed him.

His father also has the endorsement of COPE, the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, Teachers' Local 743 and several newspapers, including the Press-Record.

She said her father has influenced a great number of people and added, "I am very proud of my father. My whole family is. I hope he can run to achieve economy."

Walter "Dick" Sparks, candidate for re-election to the District 16 seat on the Madison County Board, said he is proud of his efforts since 1967 to have sanitary sewers installed in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, which he said seem sure to become a reality this year.

He added that he and members of the sewer committee decided "to lay our political futures on the line and after that, that's what we did."

"There has been a lot of opposition to taxation for the sewers and that is going to cause some problems in my district, but the majority want sewers," Sparks contended.

He also commented on a state law which may make it illegal to hold his job as supervisor of Chouteau Township and County Board member simultaneously.

"I do expect that to be changed. In eight years on the County Board, I never saw a conflict of interest between the two jobs."

"I can get great advantages to the people to have one man in both positions, and I have served in both as a full-time servant of the people," Sparks concluded.

His opponent, Morris Miles, was unable to attend.

Unopposed District 19 incumbent member William "Bill" Webb said, "I am proud of everything I have done on the board," and thanked the Democrats for their support.

District 20 unopposed incumbent Nelson Hagauer also was unable to attend.

District 21 incumbent Daniel Partney said, "I am a controversial figure," fought the board on purchasing and other issues.

"I have tried to get the county to use state pricing (purchasing from the state pool) and I am the only member who does not collect mileage. I have refunded $2,300 to the board from mileage," he said.

"If elected, in nine months I will not seek another public office, as my opponent has done," Partney commented.

John "Jeff" Worthen was a Granite City Park District Board seat last year.

Partney also noted that tax bills for the county will decrease by four cents per $100 of assessed valuation during this year's collection.

Worthen spoke next and pointed out that Partney has been driving a Granite Sheet Metal Co. car to county meetings while returning the county's mileage money.

Worthen said he is proud of his service on the park board. District 23 incumbent Red Baader, who is serving by appointment in the vacancy created by the death of Jay Munty, said, "I think we have done a good job and deserve your support."

All three District 26 candidates spoke, with Mrs. Helen Hawkins invited to talk first. She said she has always fought for the good of the people, even in controversial issues. She said she has opposed sanitary sewers for several reasons, including paying taxes for them while simultaneously paying Metro-East Sanitary District taxes for drainage.

She said she is not ashamed of being among those who took the issue to court, "which did not honor the rights of the taxpayers," he concluded.

"Taxpayers are fed up with programs they do not understand. They deserve to know what they are paying their money for," she said, adding that she feels it would be illegal eventually for the board incumbent, Louis Whitsett, to serve as both Nameoki Township supervisor and a Madison County Board member if he wins a court fight to regain the supervisor's post.

"I believe he won the township supervisor's race, just as I won for trustee. But we had it taken away from us in the courts and I decided not to appeal that. I would rather run for county board," she said.

District 28 candidate Arthur Theis said he wants "to serve the people for what they want and need," and said he will be glad to discuss controversial issues during the campaign with anyone.

He pointed out again that Whitsett was on the committee which planned the proposed sanitary sewer program, calling that program "controversial."

Whitsett was the last speaker, noting he has been active in politics, both at the county board level and in local government. "The sewer program has led to much political harassment, but I believe it is one of the best programs for the growth of this area."

"Since it should be well under way, to the point where it cannot be stopped, by the time the new County Board terms start, this is a false issue in this campaign."

"The real issue is: Who is best qualified to serve the entire county? Ask those who live in my district," Whitsett concluded.

The Rev. Arvin Twietmeyer performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Escorted to the altar by her grandfather, the former Miss Cagle chose a formal length white jersey knit gown fashioned with an Empire waistline and molded bodice accented with Venice lace which was repeated on the neckline.

The silhouette style skirt fell gracefully from the high rise waistline and she wore a full length coat trimmed with maribou on the cuffs and around the attached hood.

Beta Eta hears SIUE speaker

Approximately 52 members attended the March meeting of Beta Eta Chapter of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society International held during the weekend at Sonnie and Char's in Collinsville.

Dr. Warren Brown, dean of students at SIUE, was the featured speaker. He chose the topic of "The History of Jazz and the Big Band Era."

Equal opportunity updated

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees here Thursday approved a resolution restating its policy on non-discrimination and reaffirming its commitment to equal opportunity within the University System.

Revision of the Board's policy on non-discrimination takes into account new laws and developments since the policy was originally approved in 1970. The board reaffirmed its commitment to the policy the following year.

University officials said that since 1971, the scope of protections against discrimination provided by state and federal laws has been broadened to include groups of persons not specifically identified in the existing SIU policy. Officials noted that the protections were focused on employment in 1971 and, since that time, other activities in which the two campuses engage have been included in legislation.

The most pervasive changes in non-discrimination laws have been approved by Congress, and include Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Vietnam Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, and amendments to the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 which were approved by Congress in 1976.

Title IX of the Education Amendments provides that "no person, on the basis of sex, can be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any academic, extra-curricular, research, occupational training or other education program or activity" operated by a recipient.

The Vietnam Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act requires that government contractors, which both universities are, take affirmative action to employ and advance in employment disabled veterans and veterans of the Vietnam era.

University officials pointed out that recent changes in federal law which have and will continue to have substantial impact on the university are amendments to the Rehabilitation Act.

These amendments prohibit denial of participation in or the benefits of any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance to persons solely on the basis of handicap, and prohibit discrimination under any such program or activity.

Like most universities, the SIU campuses are the recipients of substantial amounts of federal funds, and their operations are subject to this law.

Another law, in effect at the time that the original policy was approved, was not specifically recognized in the policy statement. It is the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967.

According to university officials, this act bans discrimination in employment against persons between the ages of 40 and 65 years.

In addition, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 prohibits age discrimination in any program supported by federal funds.

The Board of Trustees felt that recognition of these laws in a positive statement required changes in the existing policy.

The revision of the policy on non-discrimination provides for a reaffirmation of its commitment to equal opportunity within the SIU system, and further states that the commitment extends to equal opportunity "for all persons."

The resolution further directs that all elements of the university adhere to procedures which promote the policy in all phases of its activities—including employment, educational programs, choice of contractors, and relationships with employee organizations.

As the laws of the United States and the State of Illinois change, additional protected categories can be expected. University officials said they feel that a general statement regarding the board's commitments to equal opportunity is a better approach in this "fluid situation" than a detailed listing of categories now protected by law.

Seek former residents of Masonic Children's Home

Officials of the Illinois Masonic Children's Home, La Grange, Ill., are updating their address list for former residents.

A concerted effort is being made to locate previous residents since many persons have moved to new addresses over the years, and many have moved out of state, an official said.

Home officials have been successful thus far in obtaining a large number of addresses and are planning an "Old Timers' Day Reunion" scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 3, at which time home residents of the 1920s, 1930s and 1940s will be specially honored.

The Masonic Children's Home was founded in Chicago in 1885. The Home continued to grow and in 1911 moved to a new building and location in La Grange. The peak enrollment was some 300 children in 1931.

In 1964, the children moved into new cottage-type facilities immediately adjacent to the original La Grange buildings. The present capacity is 37 children. William Filson is superintendent.

Some former residents for whom current addresses are being sought include: Mark Alfassa, Leroy and Vernon Allard, Harold and Ruth Allen, Alice Anderson, Donald, Eugene and Peggy Anderson, William L. Anderson, Dorothy and Genevieve Andrews, Barbara and Bradley Baker, Joseph, Nina and William Baker.

Keith Bannan, Evelyn and Raymond Baumgartel, Betty and William Bell, Harry Bens, Jean Benveniste, John Bergens, Lucille and Norma Bergman, Arthur Berthold, Melville Birk, Bishop, Mary Blakes, Earle, Gertrude, Gertrude and Marie Blanchard, Barbara and Patricia Blucher, Blanche, Ruth and Wesley Blythe.

Nicholas Bolun, Agnes, John and Vera Boulant, Marie, Anne and Anthony Brewster, Harry and Irene Brown, Donald K.

area residents, on a first-come, first-served basis, charged the only cost is a minimal fee for textbook materials which are retained by the student, Mrs. Dunihan explained.

Joe Williams will teach the course each Thursday for a seven-week period from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the YMCA.

Registrations also are being accepted for an instructors' course, scheduled to start May 2, Mrs. Dunihan announced.

Supt. Briggs, Efftimoff vie in county primary

HAROLD E. BRIGGS

Harold E. "Gene" Briggs, superintendent of the Madison County Educational Service Region, seeks the Democratic nomination for that office March 21.

Formerly assistant superintendent of the Educational Service Region, since 1966, he advanced to the position when Supt. Wilbur R. L. Trimpe accepted the presidency of Lewis and Clark Community College in November 1973.

Briggs, 51, resides at 3210 Wilshire Drive, Nameoki Township, with his wife, Elizabeth Ann. Their sons are Gene Jr. and Tim.

His previous experience of 15½ years in the Granite City Community Unit School District No. 9, is one of two candidates for the Democratic nomination for the office of superintendent of the Madison County Educational Service Region in the March 21 primary.

Efftimoff earned his master's degree from McKendree College (1950), master of science degree in education from SIUC (1957) and an educational specialist certificate from SIUE (1969).

His certification includes limited state high school certificate, limited elementary supervisory certificate, all-grade supervisory certificate and an administrative certificate with general supervisory endorsement, general administrative endorsement and superintendent endorsement.

He was born and reared in the Quad City area.

He served in the U. S. Maritime Service (Merchant Marine) in 1944-46, U. S. Naval Reserve in 1947-51 and U. S. Marine Corps Reserve from 1951 until when he retired with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

He served on active duty with the Marine Corps during the Korean War.

Briggs is past president of the Illinois Education Association's Marquette Division and Phi Delta Kappa's Gateway East Field Chapter.

He was chairman for six years of the Madison County Curriculum Council and was presented a life membership in the Illinois Congress of Parent and Teachers by the Mitchell PTA.

Memberships include Niderhugh United Methodist Church, Moose Lodge 272, Eagles, Aerie 1281 and the Marine Corps Reserve Officers Association.

Initially elected in 1974, Briggs seeks a second four-year term, which begins in August 1979. He notes that more than 50 new services to public and parochial schools were started under his leadership, including problem-solving methods, research and workshops.

He stresses that an experienced, hard-working staff is constantly seeking ways to improve school facilities, finances and effectiveness.

Funds distributed to the 15 school systems in the county exceed $43 million annually, and there is liaison with 34 parochial schools and four day centers. His salary is $31,000 yearly.

Responsibilities include visitation and inspection, certification of personnel, operation of educational equivalency programs and review of state-federal projects and applications.

Costs of his current election campaign have been estimated at $10,000.

He has been endorsed by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee and defeated his present opponent, Efftimoff, in the 1974 Democratic primary.

TWO CHARGES FILED
William Harvey, 28, of St. Louis, was released on $100 cash bond at 3 p.m. Saturday charged with illegal transportation of alcohol when he was allegedly found on the passenger side of his auto. He was stopped by police at Washington Avenue and Nameoki Road at 6 p.m. Friday.

VASIL EFFTIMOFF

Vasil Efftimoff, director of pupil personnel services in Granite City Community Unit School District No. 9, is one of two candidates for the Democratic nomination for the office of superintendent of the Madison County Educational Service Region in the March 21 primary.

Born and raised in Granite City, Efftimoff attended local public schools and graduated from Granite City High School in 1949.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Illinois College in Jacksonville in 1948 after serving 2½ years with the 13th Armored Division in Europe during World War II.

Efftimoff earned his master's degree in school administration at St. Louis University in 1956 and has continued his education at the doctoral level at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.

He holds supervisory certificates in counselor education and special education.

Efftimoff was elected to the Granite City High School board in 1949.

In 1950, he became an original member of the new Community Unit District board, which was formed that year. He served until 1954, when he resigned to accept a teaching position in Granite City.

During his 29-year education career, Efftimoff also has been a high school teacher in Brighton and Bunker Hill.

In Granite City, he has served as a junior high school teacher, counselor, elementary principal, and director of guidance.

Efftimoff is married to the former Anita Jean Kendall, a special education teacher.

They are the parents of one son, Jim, 17, and reside at 2800 Michigan Ave., Granite City.

Efftimoff, 52, has been active in such groups as the Coordinated Youth Services, United Way, Boy Scouts, Eagles, DAV, Crusade for Forgotten Children and Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church.

He believes many extensions and improvements of school services have been achieved in the Granite City district, and feels that some of them could be useful in other districts around the county, if emphasized at the county level.

A former precinct committeeman, Efftimoff is associated with an independent coalition among Madison County Democrats.

He stresses low-cost, practical solutions to educational problems and needs, including alternative and other programs within schools to help truant and drop-outs.

Efftimoff proposes to expand use of school buildings for the benefit of each neighborhood, and to reduce duplication of services by schools and their communities. He favors greater adult utilization of school buildings during evening hours, and would encourage lighting of school tennis courts.

He spent about $15,000 in the 1974 Democratic primary and expects a smaller expenditure this year.

Efftimoff would seek more flexibility in meeting state-mandated programs, state scholarships for outstanding high school graduates regardless of financial status, and expansion of free lunch programs.

Job market on rise

Things are looking up in the job market for this year's college graduates, particularly for those graduating at the bachelor's level.

For the second year in a row, the number of job offers made to bachelor's candidates by business, industrial, and government employers is running 31 percent ahead of last March, according to David R. Vavr, director of the University Placement Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

On the other hand, the outlook for graduate degree candidates is less promising. Offers made to master's candidates are five percent fewer than the number reported at this time last year.

Women are still faring better than men, at least in percentages, of not in the actual number of job offers, Van Horn said. At the bachelor's level, the volume of offers made to women is up 37 percent compared to a 29 percent rise in offers to men.

Since the College Placement Council survey does not cover teaching positions and a large percentage of women graduates go into this profession, the proportion of offers to women would undoubtedly be considerably higher if offers for teaching positions were included, Van Horn said.

At the bachelor's level, students in all disciplinary areas benefited from the increase in employer activity. The candidates in shortest supply, those majoring in engineering disciplines, experienced a 44 percent increase in offers. They received 44 percent more offers than a year ago. And of all the bachelor's offers reported, 57 percent went to engineering students.

Scientific disciplines experienced a 35 percent increase in offers, business-related disciplines went up 16 percent, and the humanities and social sciences group had an eight percent gain.

Manufacturing and industrial employers were the most active recruiters, making 37 percent more offers and accounting for 68 percent of the bachelor's total.

Only three of the 15 employer categories in the private sector reported reduced activity. They included chemicals and drugs, metals and metal products, and tires and rubber.

Among the other categories, electrical machinery and equipment, research-consulting organizations, glass-paper-packaging, and aerospace-electronics-instruments activity increased by more than 50 percent over a year ago.

At the bachelor's level, the highest salary average was petroleum engineering at $1,645 a month. The next highest bachelor's dollar average was $1,506 for chemical engineers.

At the master's level, decrease in offers were found in nursing categories. They include business administration, engineering and accounting.

All of the disciplines had a relatively small volume of offers.

The three top master's programs in dollar averages continued to be chemical engineering at $1,600 per month, mechanical engineering at $1,535, and the master of business administration degree following a technical undergraduate degree at $1,534.

At the doctoral level, offers were sparse and data inconclusive. Chemistry and chemical engineering were the most active programs. The highest doctoral dollar average was $2,057 a month for chemical engineering, while chemistry majors received an average of $1,850.

SIUE to host senior citizens

Ballroom dancing, mini-workshops and a fashion show are just a few of the festivities to be offered when Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville presents the Senior Citizen Fair, Monday, March 26.

The fair, sponsored by the SIUE Community Involvement Project (CIP) and Gerontology Program is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the University Center. According to Mary Louise Brown, CIP coordinator, 1,500 senior citizens are expected to attend.

A coffee and tea reception will begin the fair at 9 a.m. in the Goshen Lounge. A general assembly will follow at 10 a.m. in Meridian Ballroom, with a luncheon at 11 a.m.

President Kenneth A. Shaw, David Monson, acting director of the University Center, and William Tudor, associate director of the University Press, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The day's activities will include ballroom dancing with the Frank Cherry Orchestra at 1:30 p.m., and a fashion show at 2:15 p.m., with senior citizens modeling fashions from area clothing stores. Both events will be held in Meridian Ballroom.

A Folklore Archives exhibit will be displayed at 11 a.m. in the Goshen Lounge. Opaki Lounge, Square dancing performances by kitchen bands, and a senior citizen's chorus are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in the Goshen Lounge throughout the day.

Mini-workshops will also be provided. Their topics and locations are: "Crime and the Elderly," Missouri Room; "Wills," Illinois Room; "Insurance," International Room; and "Educational Opportunities for Older Americans," Washburn Room.

Crocheting artifacts will be on display and music by the Slave Fiddles of SIUE will be performed in the Mississippi Room.

From 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Prairie Lounge, hearing tests will also be provided from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the Ohio Room.

Senior club craft tables will be set up all day, and arts and crafts workshops by SIUE will undoubtedly be considerably higher if offers for teaching positions were included, Van Horn said.

At the bachelor's level, students in all disciplinary areas benefited from the increase in employer activity. The candidates in shortest supply, those majoring in engineering disciplines, experienced a 44 percent increase in offers. They received 44 percent more offers than a year ago. And of all the bachelor's offers reported, 57 percent went to engineering students.

Scientific disciplines experienced a 35 percent increase in offers, business-related disciplines went up 16 percent, and the humanities and social sciences group had an eight percent gain.

Manufacturing and industrial employers were the most active recruiters, making 37 percent more offers and accounting for 68 percent of the bachelor's total.

Only three of the 15 employer categories in the private sector reported reduced activity. They included chemicals and drugs, metals and metal products, and tires and rubber.

Among the other categories, electrical machinery and equipment, research-consulting organizations, glass-paper-packaging, and aerospace-electronics-instruments activity increased by more than 50 percent over a year ago.

At the bachelor's level, the highest salary average was petroleum engineering at $1,645 a month. The next highest bachelor's dollar average was $1,506 for chemical engineers.

At the master's level, decrease in offers were found in nursing categories. They include business administration, engineering and accounting.

All of the disciplines had a relatively small volume of offers.

The three top master's programs in dollar averages continued to be chemical engineering at $1,600 per month, mechanical engineering at $1,535, and the master of business administration degree following a technical undergraduate degree at $1,534.

At the doctoral level, offers were sparse and data inconclusive. Chemistry and chemical engineering were the most active programs. The highest doctoral dollar average was $2,057 a month for chemical engineering, while chemistry majors received an average of $1,850.

In Memoriam 33

In Loving Memory of

BERT JUDY JR.

March 16, 1977

He did not one last farewell, but even a great life.

He was gone before we knew it, and only God knows why.

They say time heals all sorrow and helps us to forget, but time so far has only proved how much we miss him.

His eyes still shed many tears, and his heart aches with sadness.

God gave us strength to face it, and God knows how much we miss him.

Very much missed by CLOSE CALL. This metal awning on the front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Dorothy) Schiller, 1607 Elizabeth St., Madison, collapsed last week. Mrs. Schiller had heard noises at the front of the house and started to go out to investigate. She paused to put on a coat when the weight of more than a foot of snow crumpled the awning; it would have hit her had she forgotten her coat and opened the front door. Other damage to the house was minimal.

Need for eye donors

"Let there be light!" is the theme of National Eye Bank Month, a March-long campaign conducted by the Illinois Eye Bank and 68 other eye banks across the country to acquaint Americans with the continual need for eye donor tissue.

"The 'Light,'" Edgar T. Britton, executive director for the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, explains, "is needed for the hundreds of people in Illinois and the thousands in this country with lost, damaged, or failing eyesight who must wait patiently for the eye tissue which could restore their vision."

The Illinois Eye Bank, founded and supported by the Illinois Society and operated at the University of Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary in Chicago, has helped to provide, preserve, or improve the sight of nearly 4,000 individuals with damaged or defective corneas.

Unfortunately, Britton says, there is never enough donor tissue to meet the steadily increasing demand, even though persons who would like to pledge their eyes to posterity can do so with every little trouble. He explains that they can write Illinois Society offices at 53 West Jackson Boulevard for a uniform organ donor card or call the ISPB at 922-2710.

Or they can stop by the Society's Illinois Eye Bank booth at 233 North Michigan Ave. (entrance off South Water Street), which will be staffed from March 6 through March 10 to provide donor cards and free literature on many aspects of eye care and sight preservation.

Or, if they are Illinois drivers who are willing to donate their eyes, kidneys, and other organs of the body, they can express their wishes by placing an "organ donor" sticker on their driver's license and by carrying a wallet-size uniform organ donor card.

"We are sure that many people would like to donate," Britton adds, "but vague fears and misunderstandings about the process keep them from doing so."

Here, he says, are answers to the questions most often asked by potential donors:

Anyone, 18 or over, may donate his eyes. You are never too old.

No prior eye examination is needed.

Removal of the eyes causes no noticeable change in the appearance of the deceased.

Eyes are never bought or sold. They are freely given and are processed without cost to the patient.

Price seeking 18th

How to encourage public interest in his quest for the Democratic Congressional nomination — an attempt few expect him to win — is a problem still faced by Sam Drenovac as the March 21 primary draws near.

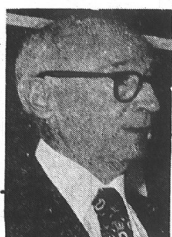

Moving toward renomination is veteran Congressman Melvin Price, East St. Louis, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, who has represented the Quad-Cities and St. Clair County since being first elected in 1944.

Now 73 and still highly active, the former newspaper reporter and Congressional aide is seeking an 18th two-year term.

The 23rd District legislator, dean of the Illinois Congressional delegation, is considered a leading authority on military and nuclear matters and has fought on behalf of this region on a wide range of public issues.

While working cooperatively with some Carter administration initiatives, Price backs continuation of a relatively strong, independent voice for Congress.

He is deeply disturbed about instances of abandonment or slowing of national defense research and development.

CONG. MELVIN PRICE

SAM DRENOVAC

He pledges prompt handling of constituents' problems, and the assurance that he will prod federal agencies to "function efficiently and fairly in administering all programs."

Drenovac, 54, a Chouteau Township restaurant operator, ran for the same Congressional seat as a Republican two years ago.

He also advocates a strong military defense, and says his top priorities would be to assist citizens and to work toward solving U.S. economic, energy and related problems.

Drenovac says federal regulations have become excessive and that "federal oversteering limits the availability of funds for local bond issues, rapid transit systems and public projects."

He opposes public employee strikes, gun controls, the Panama Canal treaty and national health insurance.
